ICC Authorizes Increase in Rail Freight Rates

Basic Commodities Are Exempted from General Six Per Cent Hike

By BRACK CURRY

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized emergency freight rate increases estimated to yield rail and water carriers about $390,000,000 more in gross revenue on an annual basis.

As a temporary measure the commission granted a general six per cent increase with exceptions for certain basic commodities. Eastern railroads received an additional five per cent hike to equalize their earnings with other carriers.

The new rates can become effective July 1 on three days' notice. They are much the same as the emergency freight rate increases authorized on March 2, 1942 and suspended by the commission on July 1, 1944. But there are certain modifications.

Carriers' Request Is Denied

The increases will remain in effect until the commission can hold a full hearing and make a decision on the carriers' request for a general twenty-five per cent boost with exceptions for certain basic commodities.

The commission turned down the railroads' request to make permanent now the ten per cent passenger fare increase authorized in January, 1942. This is scheduled to expire six months after the legal termination of the war.

The six per cent increase applies to all commodities except agricultural products, livestock and its products, and low-grade products of mines, such as sand gravel, broken rock and slag. For these the increase approved is three per cent.

The five per cent hike for eastern or official territory railroads does not apply to anthracite, bituminous coal, lignite and iron ore. Specific increases approved for these commodities are generally applicable over the whole country.

Iron Ore Rates To Rise

The rates on iron ore will be increased two cents per gross ton in the East and three cents in the southern and western districts and three and three and a half cents per ton, net or gross, on inter-territorial traffic.

The increases permitted in 1942 on anthracite coal and coke will be further increased three cents per ton. The order adds six and seven cents per net and gross ton to rates now $1.00 or less, and eight and nine cents per net and gross ton when the rates are more than $1.

Free pickup and delivery service, the commission said, or allowance to the shipper for such service should not be afforded when the line-haul rate is less than fifty cents per 100 pounds.

Fraulein Is Sentenced To Life Imprisonment For Killing U. S. Soldier

NUERNBERG, June 21 (AP)—Erika Krebs, 20, a comely blonde who once belonged to the Hitler Youth, was sentenced to life imprisonment today by a United States military court for murdering an American soldier whom she said had spurned her love.

The tribunal deliberated less than ten minutes in finding her guilty of shooting Master Sgt. Robert E. Flanigan, Peoria, Ill., on June 12. The prosecution had demanded the death penalty.

Fraulein Krebs burst into tears as the court pronounced the sentence, and continued to weep as military police led her away.

Russia Suffers Setbacks in U.N. Economic Council

Agency Adjourns until August 31 after Lengthy Session

By MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, Saturday, June 22 (AP) — After meeting almost continuously since 10:30 a. m. Friday, with Russia losing at least fourteen decisions in bitter oratory, the United Nations Economic and Social Council adjourned shortly after midnight today until next August 31.

Winding up a month's work, the delegates were kept in session throughout the day and night except for short breaks for lunch and mid-evening sandwiches.

Its work was slowed by stubborn Russian opposition to many proposals which already had been approved in the council's committees.

On the refugee question alone, Russia and the Ukraine were defeated in seven separate attempts to amend a constitution for an international refugee organization.

Both Soviet Delegate Nikolai J. Feonov and Ukrainian Delegate Anatoly M. Baronovsky refused a plea of the council president, Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, to withdraw their amendments and declared they would vote against the refugee organization unless their amendments were accepted.

The council finally approved the draft constitution for the refugee organization by a vote of 13 to 4, with Russia, the Ukraine, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia voting against it.

It was not clear whether this meant the opposing countries would refuse to take part in the organization when, and if, it is finally approved by the General Assembly.

Other important issues on which Russia was defeated included an effort to give the World Federation of Trade Unions a voice in council discussions, and a move to limit United Nations aid to war devastated areas exclusively in countries which are members of the United Nations.

One of the stormiest fights occurred when Yugoslavia brought up a resolution, previously defeated by the council sitting as a committee, proposing creation of a fact-find-

House and Senate Approve Billions In Appropriations

Log-Jam Piled Up Ahead of June 30 Deadline Is Broken

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Bills providing more than $13,000,000,000 to run government agencies in the next fiscal year slid through the Senate and House today in a break of the log-jam piled up ahead of the June 30 deadline.

On voice votes, the Senate approved supply bills for the Navy, Postoffice, Treasury, State, Commerce and Justice departments carrying a total of more than $6,000,000,000. All these measures return to the House for action on amendments.

The House passed and sent to the Senate the army's largest peacetime appropriation in history — $7,091,034,700 — without major change of its appropriations committee's recommendations. The amount is $117,172,729 below budget estimates.

The navy's $4,100,009,100 supply bill passed by the Senate must go back to the House for action on a Senate-added clause aimed at alleged idleness in navy yards and plants and on Senate reductions of $39,708,900 from the House-approved total.

The navy bill still exceeds the budget bureau's estimates of navy needs by $334,610,000.

The Senate added $452,842,000 to the total of spending by passage of a bill providing funds for the State, Commerce and Justice departments. It raised again to $19,000,000 the controversial allowance

Hard Coal Pact Is Approved by WSB

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today approved John L. Lewis's contract with the anthracite industry, granting 75,000 Pennsylvania miners an eighteen and one-half cent hourly wage boost.

The board ruled that the five-cent royalty on each ton of hard coal mined—to establish a health and welfare fund—was outside its jurisdiction, and did not require its approval.

The bituminous operators have not yet made a contract with Lewis. The OPA today released a new price order granting increases averaging forty and one-half cents for the bituminous industry.

Approval of the anthracite contract by the wage board will clear the way for a price order by OPA to cover the hard coal industry. This may require several days.

The anthracite miners struck briefly this month before Lewis, president of the UMW, signed the contract with the anthracite operators in New York.

The WSB had this to say about the health and welfare fund:

"The anthracite health and welfare fund is ruled by the board not to involve wage payments under the Stabilization act and therefore not to require the approval of the board. This ruling is based on the representation of both parties to the agreement that the uses of the fund will not go beyond those specified x x x or those closely related thereto."

Industry members of the board dissented to the main decision, making it a 4 to 2 decision.

Soviet Reaction To Jap Control Plan Is Awaited

U. S. Proposes Four-Power Board To Keep Nippon Disarmed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The United States today unveiled a plan for four victorious powers to keep Japan militarily impotent for at least a quarter century—but deep Russian silence rendered its fate uncertain.

Great Britain warmly welcomed the plan in principle, a dispatch from London said. China was reported to favor it. But Russia, the other power which would take part in the control system, has not yet reacted, although the plan was sent to Moscow and the other capitals early in April.

Under the American proposal, made public by the State department, the United States would cut the other powers in on the job of controlling Japan at the end of the present, full-scale occupation.

The idea was first broached in April, at the time Secretary Byrnes made his practically identical proposal for long-term policing of Germany.

Reds Opposed Plan for Reich

The Russians, saying nothing on the Japanese proposition, have actively opposed the plan for Germany.

State department officials said Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in Japan, has been fully informed of the provisions of the suggested treaty but no word has come in showing his reactions.

A shift to control commission direction would be a dramatic swing in American policy for Japan. There is a four-power agency in Tokyo, and other interested nations are members of a Far Eastern commission to develop policy, but the actual authority is American, exercised by MacArthur.

The initial occupation period under MacArthur is supposed to rid Japan of all its armed forces, its bases and its factories for military production. Picking up at that point, the proposed twenty-five-year treaty would have these main purposes and functions:

1. To keep Japan disarmed completely, allowing only a civil peace force having small arms and such explosives as are needed for industrial purposes.

Inspection System

2. To carry out the disarmament control program the four powers would set up a joint inspection system under the control commission and the agents of that commission could go into any part of Japan and investigate anything which might bear upon armament problems.

3. To compel Japan, before she could get present occupation forces out of the country, to agree to these controls and disarmament policies so that if later she sought to rearm in any way she would be guilty of violating the treaty.

4. To bind the United States, Russia, Britain and China to take action to enforce the disarmament program by land, sea and air forces as necessary.

5. To continue the control system for twenty-five years from the day the treaty became effective, which would be the day that it was finally formally ratified by all four of the signatory powers.

Outlook for More Meat Is Gloomy

[By The Associated Press]

A general nationwide shortage of meat "worse than at any time during the war" was reported last night by spokesmen for the meat packing industry.

They said there were "no prospects of the situation improving in the near future."

One asserted that "the consumers' supply of meat in legitimate channels throughout the nation is lower than at any time in the country's history."

Scores of packing plants have drastically curtailed operations because of inability to purchase cattle under OPA compliance restrictions, they said.

The shortage was reflected by nearly empty pens at large stockyards and at packing house plants.

In Washington, the Agriculture department said sales of both cattle and hogs dropped sharply last week and that meat supplies, particularly in big city areas dependent on big packers, therefore were unusually slim.

Bill Making Unions Subject To Anti-Racketeering Act Is Passed Suddenly by Senate

Measure, Opposed By Labor Leaders, Goes to Truman

Legislation Makes It Unlawful To Hinder Interstate Commerce

BILL WINS APPROVAL WITHOUT SINGLE "NAY"

Main Provision Was Embodied in Case Bill Which Was Vetoed

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Hobbs bill making unions subject to the Anti-Racketeering act sailed through the Senate today and onto President Truman's desk despite bitter opposition from labor leaders.

The bill would make it unlawful for union members along with anyone else to hinder interstate commerce by "actual or threatened force, or violence, or fear of injury, immediate or future."

On motion of Sen. Hatch (D-NM), close friend of the president's, the Senate passed the measure suddenly on a voice vote with not a "nay" heard. The House had passed it by a similar vote December 12.

The bill has been offered annually by Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala) since 1942 but it never before cleared Congress. However its main provision was embodied in the Case labor disputes bill which Mr. Truman vetoed as a whole.

In his veto message June 11 the president wrote that he is "in full accord with the objectives" of the anti-racketeering section. He objected, however, that as it was embodied in the Case bill it omitted "from the original act the provision that it was not to be construed so as to 'impair, diminish or in any manner affect the rights of bona fide labor organizations in lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof.'"

This specific language which the president quoted does not appear in the Hobbs bill as passed. But the measure does stipulate that "nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal, modify or affect" the Wagner Labor Relations act, the Railway Labor act or the Norris-LaGuardia Anti-Injunction act.

The bill is an amendment of the 1934 act which outlaws robbery or extortion interfering with interstate commerce. A supreme court decision in 1942 held that labor unions were exempted from the law. The Hobbs bill would make them subject to it.

The decision was given in a case involving members of an AFL truck drivers union in New York city. They were alleged to have used "strong arm" methods to compel farmers bringing their produce into the city from New Jersey to hire

Ministers Again Exchange Views On Trieste Issue

Byrnes Entertains Molotov after Discussion of Key Question

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, June 21—(AP)—The four-power foreign ministers conference took up again today the key question of Trieste, but adjourned discussion after two hours without decision, an American informant said.

Two hours later, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, and Interpreter Vladimir Pavlov arrrived at the American delegation hotel for an intimate dinner with United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, State Department Counsellor Ben Cohen, and their advisor, Charles Bohlen.

This dinner party in Byrnes's private suite was noted as the probable scene of a frank face-to-face parley by two of the chief figures in the conference, perhaps leading to a mutually satisfactory solution of tough items in the projected peace treaties.

American officials said the dinner was planned several days ago and it was only a coincidence that it fell on the day the conference took up the question of Trieste—regarded as the key to four-power agreement on European peace.

All the delegations, however, appeared to regard the dinner as more than a normal exchange of diplomatic courtesies. The conference adjourned after only two hours because it was explaind that the other ministers realized Molotov was seeing Byrnes tonight.

At the session, the shortest to date, the ministers in a general exchange of views on Trieste simply restated their respective positions. These had not changed since the April-May sessions, American sources said.

No new proposal was formally introduced regarding the Italo-Yugoslav frontier, and two proposed border lines, the French and Soviet, remained before the conference, these sources said.

The issues were discussed from

Seven Persons Are Killed In Dallas, Tex., Hotel Blast

Young Woman Is Killed By Low-Flying Plane Piloted by Sweetheart

NEW LONDON, Mo., June 21 (AP)—Miss Betty Ann Lyng, 20, was killed today by a low-flying plane piloted by her sweetheart, Howard Hampshire, 22, Hull, Ill., as she went out to greet him at her farm home south of here.

Robert E. Lyng, the girl's father said she was running parallel to the plane's course when it apparently hit an air pocket and dipped toward the ground.

The girl was caught in the undercarriage of the plane, which crashed an instant later.

41 Are Hurt; Basement, Part of First Floor Are Demolished

DALLAS, Tex., June 21. (AP)—A terrific noon hour explosion that shook downtown Dallas today demolished the basement and part of the first floor of the Baker hotel, killing seven persons and injuring forty-one others.

Screams of panic followed, as employes and guests, some trapped in the basement, rushed from the hotel through lung-burning fumes and smoke.

The blast, worst in Dallas's history, occurred in a small subbasement room during installation of a new refrigeration unit.

The hotel kitchen, in the basement above the room, was wrecked. An insurance firm estimated damage at several hundred thousand dollars.

The dead have been identified as:

William E. Cotton, head steward of the hotel, killed by falling debris in his basement office.

J. B. Parker, assistant pastor of the New Zion Baptist church and a construction worker.

Trinidad Lopez, 60, dishwasher at the hotel.

Frank Oliveras, 46, head butcher at the hotel.

A negro boy of 14, identified as Clarence Meadows.

Some employes escaped through manholes. Guests from the upper floors were evacuated quickly and safely.

Immediately crowds began to converge on the area, and police said the jam was reminiscent of V-J day in size, but not in mood.

Two of the injuries occurred when two excited girls stepped in front of a police car rushing to the scene. They were hospitalized.

Soft Coal Price Boost Averages 40 1-2 Cents Ton

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — Soft coal price increases averaging forty and one-half cents per ton, possibly designed to be the first step toward returning the government-seized mines to private operation, were authorized today by OPA.

The first-expressed operator reaction, however, was that the raise would not cover higher production costs brought about by wage increases and other concessions made to John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers to end the fifty-nine-day mine strike.

George Ward, secretary of the Harlan County (Kentucky) Coal Operators' Association, said at Harlan that the forty-six cent per ton hike approved for that area would not meet the new costs.

The price increase ranges from ten cents to $1.47 per ton, dependent upon the producing district and the type of mine. It is based on a six-day work week, with time and one-half wages paid for the sixth day. If the sixth day is not worked, twelve cents pre ton must be deducted from the increase.

"The new price will not meet the increased costs for a five-day week, much less a six-day week," Ward said, "and if twelve cents a ton is deducted for less than a six-day week, then the coverage is way off."

Operators in the Western Pennsylvania fields, one of the nation's biggest soft coal producing regions, were slow to comment on the OPA action. One spokesman said it would take two months or more to determine the effect of the price hikes.

A similar raise averaging perhaps $1 a ton is expected to be announced by OPA next week for anthracite. UMW hard coal miners reached an agreement with operators without government seizure.

The government took over the soft coal mines soon after the start of the fifty-nine-day strike, which ended May 29.

Bituminous operators have delayed reopening negotiations with Lewis since he came to terms with the government until the extent of price increases was learned.

B-29 Smashes Three Records, Sets Two More

DAYTON, O., June 21 (AP) — A standard engined army B-29 bomber smashed three international speed records and established two more today by flying 5,000 kilometers with a payload of 10,000 kilograms at an average speed of 265 miles per hour.

After landing at Wright field at 5:49 p. m. (EST) this afternoon, the pilot, Lt. Col. Robert G. Ruegg, asserted: "It would have been a much wider margin if it had not been for the wind."

The plane flew the distance, 3,105 miles, from Wright field to Tuscon, Ariz., and back in eleven hours and forty-two minutes. In American weight, the payload was 22,040 pounds.

Primary Campaign, Generating New Heat, Moves into Its Final Weekend

BALTIMORE, June 21—(AP)—Generating new heat, the Maryland primary election campaign moved into its final weekend today.

By every available means, candidates delivered appeals for support at the Democratic and Republican polling Monday, and all headquarters were busy with the last-minute details of getting out the vote.

In one of the day's developments, William Preston Lane, Jr., a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, branded as a "devious and scurrilous" attempt to stir up bitterness, the issuance of an unsigned postcard directly linking him with the CIO-Political Action Committee.

Lane issued a formal statement repudiating a card mailed from Washington. He said:

"This is a devious and scurrilous attempt at the last moment of the campaign to stir up antagonism and bitterness. I am not surprised that it is anonymous because most things like that usually are. I do not believe that voters at the last moment can be misled by any such anonymous falsehood."

Lane has steadfastly denied opposing contentions that he had affiliations with organized labor groups.

The Democratic gubernatorial contest attracted seven candidates but it is generally regarded as a three-cornered race between Lane, State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and Rep. H. Streett Baldwin.

Frequent clashes between these principals have overshadowed campaigning in most of the other primary battles, save that for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate. In that race, Gov. O'Conor is pitted against the incumbent senator, George L. Radcliffe

Provision Revising Price Ceilings Is Approved by OPA Bill Conferees

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — Congress members working the OPA bill into final shape approved a provision today revising price ceilings to cover higher manufacturing costs and then took up the question of removing certain controls entirely.

The Senate-House conference committee adopted with some modification the amendment by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) which requires that price ceilings for manufacturers must be high enough to cover their 1941 price plus the average cost increases in their industry since then.

The modification stipulates that the resulting price increases passed along to wholesalers, retailers and consumers shall be only the actual money increase, not the percentage increase. For example, if a manufacturer gained a ten per cent increase on a $100 product so that his price to the wholesaler became $110, then the wholesaler could raise his price to the retailer by $10 — not by ten per cent of $110, or $11.

However, in industries where the OPA already allows percentage markups and discounts, the ceiling would be computed either under these allowances or under the new amendment, whichever would give the higher price.

So-called "reconversion items" such as automobiles, which were not manufactured during the war because of government restrictions, would not be affected by the amendment.

The amendment appeared certain, however, to require the OPA to make wholesale changes of price ceilings. Stabilization Director Chester Bowles assailed it in its original form as "a delayed action bomb" and termed it one of the "most dangerous" in the bill.

Dispute Resulting from Search Of Miners for Matches Closes Pit

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Eastern Coal Corporation advised the Coal Mines Administration today its mine at Hardy, Ky., was closed by a dispute which stemmed from a search of the Mine's employes for matches or other combustible material.

The shutdown "clearly demonstrates," the company told Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, federal mines administrator, that the workers "are not mindful" of the importance of complying with safety measures.

L. E. Tierney, Jr., operating manager of the company's mine, told reporters the mine had been classed as gaseous by state and federal inspectors. As a result, he said, the unheralded search was made of night shift workers last night when they reported for duty.

HARDY, Ky., June 21 (AP) — An official of the Eastern Coal Corporation mine closed by a dispute resulting from a search of the mine's employes for combutibles said today that the mine's pit boss was merely complying with state law by ordering a periodic search.

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said miners employed in gaseous operations are required to leave matches at the lamp shanty or bath houses. Most miners, he said, voluntarily comply with the regulation.

Occasional searches, he added, are conducted to emphasize the importance of complying with the regulation, and are for the miners' own safety.

The Hardy mine employs about 200 men.

At Williamson, W. Va., Charles Kiser, United Mine Workers field representative in the Hardy area, charged that the men were willing to comply with state regulations prohibiting smoking but that the company "is not." Kiser declared the firm permitted open lights and acetylene torches inside the pit.

He said the men were refusing to work because of "lack of co-operation."

Hard Coal Pact Is Approved by WSB

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today approved John L. Lewis's contract with the anthracite industry, granting 75,000 Pennsylvania miners an eighteen and one-half cent hourly wage boost.

The board ruled that the five-cent royalty on each ton of hard coal mined—to establish a health and welfare fund—was outside its jurisdiction, and did not require its approval.

The bituminous operators have not yet made a contract with Lewis. The OPA today released a new price order granting increases averaging forty and one-half cents for the bituminous industry.

Approval of the anthracite contract by the wage board will clear the way for a price order by OPA to cover the hard coal industry. This may require several days.

The anthracite miners struck briefly this month before Lewis, president of the UMW, signed the contract with the anthracite operators in New York.

The WSB had this to say about the health and welfare fund:

"The anthracite health and welfare fund is ruled by the board not to involve wage payments under the Stabilization act and therefore not to require the approval of the board. This ruling is based on the representation of both parties to the agreement that the uses of the fund will not go beyond those specified x x x or those closely related thereto."

Industry members of the board dissented to the main decision, making it a 4 to 2 decision.

Soviet Reaction To Jap Control Plan Is Awaited

U. S. Proposes Four-Power Board To Keep Nippon Disarmed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The United States today unveiled a plan for four victorious powers to keep Japan militarily impotent for at least a quarter century—but deep Russian silence rendered its fate uncertain.

Great Britain warmly welcomed the plan in principle, a dispatch from London said. China was reported to favor it. But Russia, the other power which would take part in the control system, has not yet reacted, although the plan was sent to Moscow and the other capitals early in April.

Under the American proposal, made public by the State department, the United States would cut the other powers in on the job of controlling Japan at the end of the present, full-scale occupation.

The idea was first broached in April, at the time Secretary Byrnes made his practically identical proposal for long-term policing of Germany.

Reds Opposed Plan for Reich

The Russians, saying nothing on the Japanese proposition, have actively opposed the plan for Germany.

State department officials said Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in Japan, has been fully informed of the provisions of the suggested treaty but no word has come in showing his reactions.

A shift to control commission direction would be a dramatic swing in American policy for Japan. There is a four-power agency in Tokyo, and other interested nations are members of a Far Eastern commission to develop policy, but the actual authority is American, exercised by MacArthur.

The initial occupation period under MacArthur is supposed to rid Japan of all its armed forces, its bases and its factories for military production. Picking up at that point, the proposed twenty-five-year treaty would have these main purposes and functions:

1. To keep Japan disarmed completely, allowing only a civil peace force having small arms and such explosives as are needed for industrial purposes.

Inspection System

2. To carry out the disarmament control program the four powers would set up a joint inspection system under the control commission and the agents of that commission could go into any part of Japan and investigate anything which might bear upon armament problems.

3. To compel Japan, before she could get present occupation forces out of the country, to agree to these controls and disarmament policies so that if later she sought to rearm in any way she would be guilty of violating the treaty.

4. To bind the United States, Russia, Britain and China to take action to enforce the disarmament program by land, sea and air forces as necessary.

5. To continue the control system for twenty-five years from the day the treaty became effective, which would be the day that it was finally formally ratified by all four of the signatory powers.

Outlook for More Meat Is Gloomy

[By The Associated Press]

A general nationwide shortage of meat "worse than at any time during the war" was reported last night by spokesmen for the meat packing industry.

They said there were "no prospects of the situation improving in the near future."

One asserted that "the consumers' supply of meat in legitimate channels throughout the nation is lower than at any time in the country's history."

Scores of packing plants have drastically curtailed operations because of inability to purchase cattle under OPA compliance restrictions, they said.

The shortage was reflected by nearly empty pens at large stockyards and at packing house plants.

In Washington, the Agriculture department said sales of both cattle and hogs dropped sharply last week and that meat supplies, particularly in big city areas dependent on big packers, therefore were unusually slim.

Bill Making Unions Subject To Anti-Racketeering Act Is Passed Suddenly by Senate

FIREMEN ASSIST INJURED AFTER DALLAS BLAST

FIREMEN ARE SHOWN REMOVING an unidentified man injured in yesterday's explosion in the Baker hotel, Dallas, Tex., which killed seven persons and injured forty-one others. The blast rocked the downtown business area and was the worst in Dallas's history.

Measure, Opposed By Labor Leaders, Goes to Truman

BILL WINS APPROVAL WITHOUT SINGLE "NAY"

Main Provision Was Embodied in Case Bill Which Was Vetoed

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Hobbs bill making unions subject to the Anti-Racketeering act sailed through the Senate today and onto President Truman's desk despite bitter opposition from labor leaders.

The bill would make it unlawful for union members along with anyone else to hinder interstate commerce by "actual or threatened force, or violence, or fear of injury, immediate or future."

On motion of Sen. Hatch (D-NM), close friend of the president's, the Senate passed the measure suddenly on a voice vote with not a "nay" heard. The House had passed it by a similar vote December 12.

The bill has been offered annually by Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala) since 1942 but it never before cleared Congress. However its main provision was embodied in the Case labor disputes bill which Mr. Truman vetoed as a whole.

In his veto message June 11 the president wrote that he is "in full accord with the objectives" of the anti-racketeering section. He objected, however, that as it was embodied in the Case bill it omitted "from the original act the provision that it was not to be construed so as to 'impair, diminish or in any manner affect the rights of bona fide labor organizations in lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof.'"

This specific language which the president quoted does not appear in the Hobbs bill as passed. But the measure does stipulate that "nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal, modify or affect" the Wagner Labor Relations act, the Railway Labor act or the Norris-LaGuardia Anti-Injunction act.

The bill is an amendment of the 1934 act which outlaws robbery or extortion interfering with interstate commerce. A supreme court decision in 1942 held that labor unions were exempted from the law. The Hobbs bill would make them subject to it.

The decision was given in a case involving members of an AFL truck drivers union in New York city. They were alleged to have used "strong arm" methods to compel farmers bringing their produce into the city from New Jersey to hire

Byrnes Entertains Molotov after Discussion of Key Question

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, June 21—(AP)—The four-power foreign ministers conference took up again today the key question of Trieste, but adjourned discussion after two hours without decision, an American informant said.

Two hours later, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, and Interpreter Vladimir Pavlov arrrived at the American delegation hotel for an intimate dinner with United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, State Department Counsellor Ben Cohen, and their advisor, Charles Bohlen.

This dinner party in Byrnes's private suite was noted as the probable scene of a frank face-to-face parley by two of the chief figures in the conference, perhaps leading to a mutually satisfactory solution of tough items in the projected peace treaties.

American officials said the dinner was planned several days ago and it was only a coincidence that it fell on the day the conference took up the question of Trieste—regarded as the key to four-power agreement on European peace.

All the delegations, however, appeared to regard the dinner as more than a normal exchange of diplomatic courtesies. The conference adjourned after only two hours because it was explaind that the other ministers realized Molotov was seeing Byrnes tonight.

At the session, the shortest to date, the ministers in a general exchange of views on Trieste simply restated their respective positions. These had not changed since the April-May sessions, American sources said.

No new proposal was formally introduced regarding the Italo-Yugoslav frontier, and two proposed border lines, the French and Soviet, remained before the conference, these sources said.

The issues were discussed from

Young Woman Is Killed By Low-Flying Plane Piloted by Sweetheart

NEW LONDON, Mo., June 21 (AP)—Miss Betty Ann Lyng, 20, was killed today by a low-flying plane piloted by her sweetheart, Howard Hampshire, 22, Hull, Ill., as she went out to greet him at her farm home south of here.

Robert E. Lyng, the girl's father said she was running parallel to the plane's course when it apparently hit an air pocket and dipped toward the ground.

The girl was caught in the undercarriage of the plane, which crashed an instant later.

41 Are Hurt; Basement, Part of First Floor Are Demolished

DALLAS, Tex., June 21. (AP)—A terrific noon hour explosion that shook downtown Dallas today demolished the basement and part of the first floor of the Baker hotel, killing seven persons and injuring forty-one others.

Screams of panic followed, as employes and guests, some trapped in the basement, rushed from the hotel through lung-burning fumes and smoke.

The hotel kitchen, in the basement above the room, was wrecked. An insurance firm estimated damage at several hundred thousand dollars.

The dead have been identified as:

J. B. Parker, assistant pastor of the New Zion Baptist church and a construction worker.

Frank Oliveras, 46, head butcher at the hotel.

A negro boy of 14, identified as Clarence Meadows.

Some employes escaped through manholes. Guests from the upper floors were evacuated quickly and safely.

Immediately crowds began to converge on the area, and police said the jam was reminiscent of V-J day in size, but not in mood.

Two of the injuries occurred when two excited girls stepped in front of a police car rushing to the scene. They were hospitalized.

Soft Coal Price Boost Averages 40 1-2 Cents Ton

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — Soft coal price increases averaging forty and one-half cents per ton, possibly designed to be the first step toward returning the government-seized mines to private operation, were authorized today by OPA.

The first-expressed operator reaction, however, was that the raise would not cover higher production costs brought about by wage increases and other concessions made to John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers to end the fifty-nine-day mine strike.

George Ward, secretary of the Harlan County (Kentucky) Coal Operators' Association, said at Harlan that the forty-six cent per ton hike approved for that area would not meet the new costs.

The price increase ranges from ten cents to $1.47 per ton, dependent upon the producing district and the type of mine. It is based on a six-day work week, with time and one-half wages paid for the sixth day. If the sixth day is not worked, twelve cents pre ton must be deducted from the increase.

"The new price will not meet the increased costs for a five-day week, much less a six-day week," Ward said, "and if twelve cents a ton is deducted for less than a six-day week, then the coverage is way off."

Operators in the Western Pennsylvania fields, one of the nation's biggest soft coal producing regions, were slow to comment on the OPA action. One spokesman said it would take two months or more to determine the effect of the price hikes.

A similar raise averaging perhaps $1 a ton is expected to be announced by OPA next week for anthracite. UMW hard coal miners reached an agreement with operators without government seizure.

The government took over the soft coal mines soon after the start of the fifty-nine-day strike, which ended May 29.

Bituminous operators have delayed reopening negotiations with Lewis since he came to terms with the government until the extent of price increases was learned.

B-29 Smashes Three Records, Sets Two More

DAYTON, O., June 21 (AP) — A standard engined army B-29 bomber smashed three international speed records and established two more today by flying 5,000 kilometers with a payload of 10,000 kilograms at an average speed of 265 miles per hour.

After landing at Wright field at 5:49 p. m. (EST) this afternoon, the pilot, Lt. Col. Robert G. Ruegg, asserted: "It would have been a much wider margin if it had not been for the wind."

The plane flew the distance, 3,106 miles, from Wright field to Tuscon, Ariz., and back in eleven hours and forty-two minutes. In American weight, the payload was 22,040 pounds.

Primary Campaign, Generating New Heat, Moves into Its Final Weekend

BALTIMORE, June 21—(AP)—Generating new heat, the Maryland primary election campaign moved into its final weekend today.

By every available means, candidates delivered appeals for support in the Democratic and Republican polling Monday, and all headquarters were busy with the last-minute details of getting out the vote.

In one of the day's developments, William Preston Lane, Jr., a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, branded as a "devious and scurrilous" attempt to stir up bitterness, the issuance of an unsigned postcard directly linking him with the CIO-Political Action Committee.

Lane issued a formal statement repudiating a card mailed from Washington. He said:

"This is a devious and scurrilous attempt at the last moment of the campaign to stir up antagonism and bitterness. I am not surprised that it is anonymous because most things like that usually are. I do not believe that voters at the last moment can be misled by any such anonymous falsehood."

Lane has steadfastly denied opposing contentions that he had affiliations with organized labor groups.

The Democratic gubernatorial contest attracted seven candidates but it is generally regarded as a three-cornered race between Lane, State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and Rep. H. Streett Baldwin.

Frequent clashes between these principals have overshadowed campaigning in most of the other primary battles, save that for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate. In that race, Gov. O'Conor is pitted against the incumbent senator, George L. Radcliffe

Provision Revising Price Ceilings Is Approved by OPA Bill Conferees

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — Congress members working the OPA bill into final shape approved a provision today revising price ceilings to cover higher manufacturing costs and then took up the question of removing certain controls entirely.

The Senate-House conference committee adopted with some modification the amendment by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) which requires that price ceilings for manufacturers must be high enough to cover their 1941 price plus the average cost increases in their industry since then.

The modification stipulates that the resulting price increases passed along to wholesalers, retailers and consumers shall be only the actual money increase, not the percentage increase. For example, if a manufacturer gained a ten per cent increase on a $100 product so that his price to the wholesaler became $110, then the wholesaler could raise his price to the retailer by $10 — not by ten per cent of $110, or $11.

However, in industries where the OPA already allows percentage markups and discounts, the ceiling would be computed either under these allowances or under the new amendment, whichever would give the higher price.

So-called "reconversion items" such as automobiles, which were not manufactured during the war because of government restrictions, would not be affected by the amendment.

The amendment appeared certain, however, to require the OPA to make wholesale changes of price ceilings. Stabilization Director Chester Bowles assailed it in its original form as "a delayed action bomb" and termed it one of the "most dangerous" in the bill.

Dispute Resulting from Search Of Miners for Matches Closes Pit

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Eastern Coal Corporation advised the Coal Mines Administration today its mine at Hardy, Ky., was closed by a dispute which stemmed from a search of the Mine's employes for matches or other combustible material.

The shutdown "clearly demonstrates," the company told Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, federal mines administrator, that the workers "are not mindful" of the importance of complying with safety measures.

L. E. Tierney, Jr., operating manager of the company's mine, told reporters the mine had been classed as gaseous by state and federal inspectors. As a result, he said, the unheralded search was made of night shift workers last night when they reported for duty.

HARDY, Ky., June 21 (AP) — An official of the Eastern Coal Corporation mine closed by a dispute resulting from a search of the mine's employes for combutibles said today that the mine's pit boss was merely complying with state law by ordering a periodic search.

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said miners employed in gaseous operations are required to leave matches at the lamp shanty or bath houses. Most miners, he said, voluntarily comply with the regulation.

Occasional searches, he added, are conducted to emphasize the importance of complying with the regulation, and are for the miners' own safety.

The Hardy mine employs about 200 men.

At Williamson, W. Va., Charles Kiser, United Mine Workers field representative in the Hardy area, charged that the men were willing to comply with state regulations prohibiting smoking but that the company "is not." Kiser declared the firm permitted open lights and acetylene torches inside the pit

He said the men were refusing to work because of "lack of co-operation."

If Big Foot Is Coming, Let It Come

The Chiropodist Society of New Jersey, Inc., which makes a business of keeping an eye on what's afoot, has let out the information that women's feet are getting bigger. The fact is, says the society, that members of the teen-age set, who get around now in dirty saddle shoes and bobby socks, will be wearing size 10½-E when they reach the age of 25, whereas their mothers wore about 5-A at this same stage of antiquity.

Doubtless this will cause some consternation among women. There remains in milady's thinking even today some vestige of that era when a stylish lady had feet like a humming bird's and a figure approximating an hour glass, in the style of Lillian Russell. Women of those constricted days could neither breathe deeply because of their corsets, nor balance themselves well if feeling giddy because of such slight underpinnings, and as a consequence often toppled over in inexplicable faints.

By a valiant fight the women got out of those whalebone stays and into the voting booths. So why not now give the foot a chance to express itself? After all, who ever heard anyone but a woman discussing the size of a woman's foot?

If the big foot is coming, then let it come. And leave room in the shoe for an occasional wiggling of the toes.

Bond Drive Differs Only in Its Appeal

Quietly, but nonetheless intensively, the treasury is conducting its first peacetime savings bond campaign. Unaccompanied by all the trumpeting of the war bond drives, the sales campaign differs only in its appeal. In the war drives quotas were established and the public was urged to invest as a matter of patriotism. Now the emphasis is on the sound investment angle. It is a self-interest appeal.

Sales of Series E bonds, the ones which are most popular with individuals, have lagged behind redemptions by almost 500 million dollars this year. Large sales of F and G issues have prevented a net drain on the treasury. The present campaign, which started on the anniversary of D-day, and which will continue through July 4, is designed to reverse the decline in the sales of Series E bonds.

The people are admonished to put a brake on a cashing and spending trend which coupled with other inflationary factors, constitutes a growing menace to the nation's price structure. The best way to fight inflation is to save, and there is no sounder way to save than by investment in government savings bonds.

Automobile Output Increases Steadily

The automobile factories in Detroit and elsewhere are creaking along at a tempo that is expected to increase steadily if not spectacularly from now on. A million new cars and trucks have been manufactured since January 1 and, barring new strikes, output could conceivably be two million in the next six months.

The word from Detroit, as of the moment, is that suppliers of various parts and gadgets are coming through at an accelerated pace and remaining bottlenecks are expected to be eliminated without undue delay. All this does not mean that the prospective new car owner who is No. 679 on the waiting list will get a car next week. But it renews the hope that he may become the proud possessor of one of the new beauties before the old bus disintegrated entirely.

The Meat Scarcity And Medicine

People can get along without meat as food, although undoubtedly they would rather not, but many people cannot get along without meat by-products as medicine.

The huge black market in meat is a direct threat to hundreds of victims, for example, of Addison's disease who depend upon adrenal cortex extract to keep them alive. The extract is just one of a number of pharmaceutical by-products of cattle obtained through the packing industry.

These supplies are being exhausted rapidly because reserves have been depleted and legitimate packers are not slaughtering enough animals to maintain medicinal stocks. Black market operators, of course, are interested only in profits from meat and have no facilities for utilizing by-products.

Home Owners Have Stake in Community

One of the most often-used and reliable indices to the economic stability of a community is the number of houses owned by their occupants. Home owners have a definite stake in civic affairs and more often than not an increased feeling of responsibility.

Thus, from a community standpoint, there is considerable encouragement to be found in figures recently released by the census bureau, showing that since 1940 the number of resident home owners has increased nearly thirty-three per cent. Latest statictics show that dwelling units occupied by owners number twenty million or fifty-three per cent of all occupied dwelling units, compared with fifteen million or forty-four per cent of all occupied units in April of 1940. Tenant-occupied units declined eleven per cent from slightly fewer than twenty million in 1940.

Doubtless, a great many of the new home owners became so through necessity rather than choice. Any one [illegible] with the pathetic housing situation knows that only through purchase does the average American stand much more than a fraction of a chance of finding a place to live. Observers of the housing picture say that this condition has progressed so far now that the crying need is for property built for rent rather than for sale.

Forced ownership does account for a large share of present-day real estate business, but obviously not all. Census figures would seem to show that the big wages and the "easy money" of wartime have not been altogether wasted, as some cynics said that they would be. Even without the desperate shortage now existing, it seems reasonable to assume that there would be a great demand for new building. And it seems reasonable to believe that a sizeable part of the demand will continue when the specter of high prices and shortages gives away to more normal times.

New homes and refrigerators and stoves and other items of much-needed consumer goods will be convincing proof that America is still keeping its head.

Invitations

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

There is a certain thrill attached to an invitation from a friend or to some occasion of interest. But we forget that there are invitations galore all about us every day of our lives that we unthinkingly neglect to accept.

The beautiful grey squirrel at my back porch, who so readily comes at my call, taking from my fingers the peanut that I have secured for him, invites me to be his friend. Every flower, tree, shrub, bird song, sunset, or spectacle of beauty invites us to share its wealth or natural gifts. All Nature in fact spreads its invitations before our eyes, no matter where we may be.

But the finest of all invitations is to be invited into the heart of another human being, to share his thoughts, dreams, aspirations, and even his difficulties and sorrows. Most of these invitations are silent ones, that only the expert in understanding is able to sense and accept.

We stand ignorantly upon too many ceremonies and conventions. Nature doesn't do this. Its arms are wide-spread and its heart is always warmed for acceptance. But how quickly the gates are opened to the heart of one who is kindred to us, the moment that a mutual interest knocks at those gates!

People walk around, hugry for love and appreciation, not realizing that, if they would only let a few love-runners out, it would not be long before those scamperers would return with real crowds of their kind! People like to be invited to be loved. It's as simple as that. And these invitations can be sent out through a book, a thought, or a word expressed, that has first been warmed to a glow in the heart.

God's invitations are everywhere! He invites folks to talk with Him, to walk with Him—and to view His perfect handiwork in every created thing. But, most of all, He invites people to understand one another, to be tolerant, kind, and understanding. His invitations are written in the clouds that float like soft white velvet in the sky, and upon the face of every star is an invitation to accept the truth of immortality.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Hollywood is back in the groove again. The other night a six-stool hot-dog stand had its opening with a battery of four searchlights, eight publicity men, movie stars, and a crowd of seven hundred tourists. There was so much excitement that several people passing by thought it must be a strike and started picketing.

This particular stand is built in the old California tradition. It is shaped exactly like a huge hot-dog on a roll. (With the owner in the middle and the prices on top.) It is really quite realistic-looking. Sidny Greenstreet walked by and broke three teeth on it.

But there were a lot of movie stars there and they were very busy signing autographs in loose mustard. And afterward they had them make an impression of their footprints in a bowl of damp picallilli.

It's really a pretty ritzy place. Instead of calling their products hot-dogs, they refer to them as "high-fahrenheit lassies!"

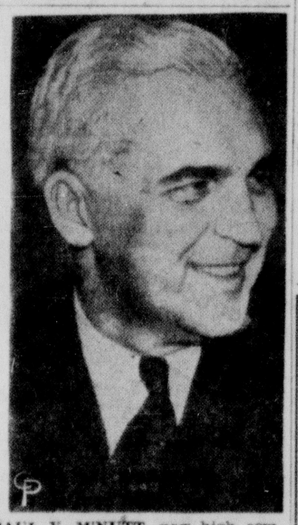

Crosby dropped around and for a while their frankfurter business dropped off to nothing. Then they explained he was just a guest and put up a notarized statement saying that they got all their meat from a regular butcher.

Sinatra showed up but he had a little trouble. Someone yelled, "There's Frank" . . . and a near-sighted woman from Pomona slapped a bun around him and covered his shirt with catsup.

And this place has a lot of fancy Hollywood hot-dogs. They call one "The W. C. Fields special" . . . It's a Bourbon label rolled up and stuffed with olives and marachino cherries.

Truman Cabineteers and Advisers Went To Prize Fight by Plane, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 21 — A group of cabineteers and White House advisers were gathered at the home of Undersecretary of the Navy John Sullivan the other day, comparing notes as to who was going to see the Louis-Conn fight in New York.

It turned out that the following were going, and all taking the same airplane to New York: Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton A. Anderson, OPA Administrator Paul Porter, War Reconverter John Steelman, White House Press Secretary Charles Ross and White House Personal Secretary Matt Connelly.

"What a chance for the pilot to pull the plug!" wise-cracked ex-Congressman Joe Casey, of Massachusetts, now vice president of TWA.

"Yes," shot back OPA's Paul Porter, "and become another Colin Kelly!"

Race Tracks vs. Vet Housing

Biggest scandal in the veterans' housing program is the way non-essential race tracks, roller coasters, and bowling alleys divert thousands of feet of precious lumber and carpenters' time, which could be used on homes for veterans.

Among the new or refurnished race tracks are those at Atlantic City and Monmouth, N. J., with the Arlington, Ill., track also attempting to wangle some new reconstruction, and quite a battle raging over the Tanforan track near San Francisco.

The fight over rebuilding Tanforan is an illustration of how energetic race track owners and sleepy-eyed CPA officials co-operate to give veterans' housing the go-by.

On April 26, a San Francisco contractor filed a complaint with CPA (Civilian Production Administration) that the Tanforan race track was getting carpenters by advertising overtime and, as a result, his veterans' housing projects were at a standstill.

CPA, however, ruled that Tanforan was merely demolishing former navy construction, which it ruled was permissible. About this time, however, Tanforan applied for a new construction permit, and, according to Guy Standifer, prestdent of the track, he was encouraged to go ahead by Ed Halloran, regional CPA construction manager.

Halloran denies this, but Standifer testifies that Halloran was very sympathetic and virtually told him to go ahead with the work pending action on the permit.

Gambling Joint Gets Lumber

Meanwhile, this columnist, on June 2, publicly called attention to the reconstruction of Tanforan and asked CPA Administrator Jack Small why he was permitting it. Next day, June 3, Gilbert Kneiss, district CPA construction manager claimed that the Tanforan application had been denied on the previous Friday, May 31.

His superior, Mr. Halloran, however, knew nothing about this stop-order and, as of Monday, June 3, had not made up his mind regarding the Tanforan construction permit.

This illustrates one inside reason why CPA lets race tracks, bowling alleys, and roller coasters get built, while veterans' housing is sidetracked. Kneiss, who wanted to stop the Tanforan reconstruction, is an engineer and former district manager of the War Production Board. Halloran, his boss, who wanted the race track built, is a contractor. Contractors usually are sympathetic to the desires of other contractors, and many of the CPA local committees are from the building industry.

However, three days after public comment by this commentator and after CPA allegedly issued its denial of a permit, a CPA inspector found that Tanforan was continuing work on stables, grandstand, clubhouse, and paddock to the tune of about $132,000.

Furthermore, it was found that excess lumber obtained by dismantling temporary war buildings at the race track went to build a new gambling house at Lake Tahoe, Nev., owned in part by E. W. Heple, Tanforan's contractor. The Tanforan people claimed all this lumber went to veterans, but this was not true. Actually, part of it went to the gambling joint in direct violation of a CPA order.

This is just one illustration of how and why the boys who lived in foxholes are still looking for homes.

Note 1—CPA officials say that veterans' housing is also handicapped in part by some federal judges who don't co-operate in helping to enforce CPA regulations, among them Judges Adolphus St. Sure, Michael Roche, and Martin Welsh in Northern California. In contrast, Judge Louis Goodman, in San Francisco, gives vigorous co-operation in enforcing CPA construction permits.

Note 2—One race track which went out of its way to co-operate with the veterans' housing program is the Southern California Jockey Club. Its president, A. J. Uniack, released all his building material, ordered many months before, to veterans.

We Did Not Defeat Japan

Most people won't believe it, but in Czechoslovakia, a country not unfriendly to the U.S.A., the people have no idea that the United States had anything to do with defeating Japan. They think it was Russia that did it all.

Reason is that the Russian radio and propaganda machine has done a skillful job of propagandizing the Czechoslovak people, while we have done absolutely nothing to counteract it.

Reason we haven't told our side of the story is that Congress has hamstrung the State department on short-wave broadcasting. Led by that great statesman from Grosse Point, Mich., Rep. Louis Rabaut, the House Appropriations committee cut the heart out of the State department's appropriation for propaganda, especially radio broadcasting.

The other day, however, the appropriation bill came before the Senate in a secret hearing. And, believe it or not, the man who knifed his friend, Secretary of State Byrnes, in the back on this appropriation was none other than the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Tom Connally, of Texas.

"An idiotic waste of money," shouted the gentleman from Texas, "devised only by someone who does not understand world affairs."

A few days later, the gentleman from Texas sailed for Paris, with his friend Mr. Byrnes, to try to offset Russian propaganda and diplomacy in Europe.

"How," remarked one State department official who had listened to Connally, "can you fight something with nothing? The Russians are fast turning the people of Czechoslovakia, Romania, Finland, even France and Belgium, against us. Czechoslovakia was founded in the United States with the help of Woodrow Wilson. But we are fast losing that basic friendship because we do nothing to counteract Russian propaganda."

Production Hopes, Facts Are Mixed, Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

In Washington, especially within the administration, is a prevailing hope, long deferred. It is that full production of goods is at least about to get underway. The hope rests in part on facts, in part on conditions which are themselves hopes. The hopes and the facts are intricately intermingled.

Some facts are in the field of labor. At the moment there are few important strikes. Also, strikes and wage increases in the basic industries have already taken place — strikes in steel, coal, railroads, motors; and in shipping a wage increase to avert a strike. Out of this arises a hope, that there will be no strikes or few of them the rest of the year—especially that there will be none with the devastating effect of strikes in basic industries.

Associated with the hope about labor is one about prices and the Office of Price Administration. The prevailing expectation is that OPA will be continued, with limitations, but with enough authority to avert such dislocation of prices as—so the administration holds—might be a consequence of ending OPA entirely. The administration position about OPA amounts to saying that discontinuance, or serious limitation of it, would result in an immediate rise in prices, justifying more wage demands. (It is necessary to add that there is a school of thought holding that OPA is itself an impediment to full production, that the intricacy of its regulations choke the flow of goods.)

No Charge Legislatively

Any hope that there will not be further labor trouble must rest on something other than legislation. Legislatively there is no change, we are just where we have been. In the commotion that went on during the past two months, there were two bills and a proposal. All are dead.

The Case bill, dealing with labor relations on a broad and permanent basis, passed the House by a more than two-thirds majority, the Senate by a majority approaching two-thirds. President Truman vetoed it.

President Truman, when the railroad strike was on, in a sensational step, asked Congress to give him emergency legislation, for a limited time, empowering him to deal with strikes of a special kind, those affecting the national economy. The House passed it with only a handful of votes dissenting; the Senate, after some modification, also. In its present status the bill awaits adjustment of differences in the versions passed by the House and Senate. The common expectation is that the waiting will be permanent, that nothing will be done. A feeling entertained by persons who think something should be done about labor relations is that the administration, with the crisis of the railroad strike past is not eager to take continued responsibility for the emergency legislation.

With the president's emergency legislation, and the Case bill, and as a substitute for the latter, went a proposal by President Truman. It was that Congress set up a joint committee, that this committee study the labor problem, and report to Congress within six months. The House adopted the proposal immediately. From the House it went to the Senate, and within that body, to the Committee on Labor. There it remainns. The Senate Committee on Labor has a majority unfavorable to measures that might result in limitations on unions, it has often been called the "graveyard" of such proposals. In such motion as goes on, there are maneouvers to see that the joint committee, if set up at all, have a personnel sympathetic to labor. The common expectation is that there will be no action.

Conditions Remain Unchanged

All that body of opinion, in Congress and out, which has held that the legal status of labor relations needs to be changed, has been frustrated. As respects legislation, the conditions that made recent strikes possible and succesful. The administration hope that future strikes will be averted or minimized, rests in part on the idea that labor leaders will practice self-restraint.

Whatever goes on during the next four months will have a bearing on the Congressional elections in November. Another wave of strikes would intensify the feeling of voters who blame the administration for the existing labor situation. Abstinence from strikes would be helpful to the administration.

—Labor troubles have hit practically every industry in Uruguay this year.

But, most of all, He invites people to understand one another, to be tolerant, kind, and understanding. His invitations are written in the clouds that float like soft white velvet in the sky, and upon the face of every star is an invitation to accept the truth of immortality.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Hollywood is back in the groove again. The other night a six-stool hot-dog stand had its opening with a battery of four searchlights, eight publicity men, movie stars, and a crowd of seven hundred tourists. There was so much excitement that several people passing by thought it must be a strike and started picketing.

This particular stand is built in the old California tradition. It is shaped exactly like a huge hot-dog on a roll. (With the owner in the middle and the prices on top.) It is really quite realistic-looking. Sidny Greenstreet walked by and broke three teeth on it.

But there were a lot of movie stars there and they were very busy signing autographs in loose mustard. And afterward they had them make an impression of their footprints in a bowl of damp picallilli.

It's really a pretty ritzy place. Instead of calling their products hot-dogs, they refer to them as "high-fahrenheit lassies!"

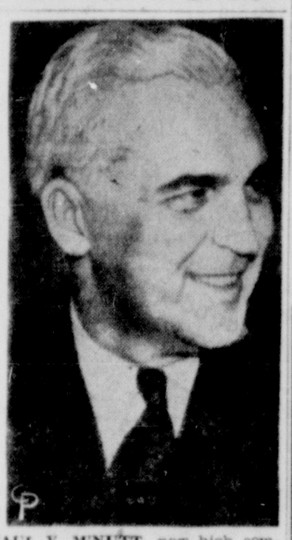

Crosby dropped around and for a while their frankfurter business dropped off to nothing. Then they explained he was just a guest and put up a notarized statement saying that they got all their meat from a regular butcher.

Sinatra showed up but he had a little trouble. Someone yelled, "There's Frank" . . . and a near-sighted woman from Pomona slapped a bun around him and covered his shirt with catsup.

And this place has a lot of fancy Hollywood hot-dogs. They call one "The W. C. Fields special" . . . It's a Bourbon label rolled up and stuffed with olives and marachino cherries.

NEW POST IN OFFING

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 21 — A group of cabineteers and White House advisers were gathered at the home of Undersecretary of the Navy John Sullivan the other day, comparing notes as to who was going to see the Louis-Conn fight in New York.

It turned out that the following were going, and all taking the same airplane to New York: Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton A. Anderson, OPA Administrator Paul Porter, War Reconverter John Steelman, White House Press Secretary Charles Ross and White House Personal Secretary Matt Connelly.

"What a chance for the pilot to pull the plug!" wise-cracked ex-Congressman Joe Casey, of Massachusetts, now vice president of TWA.

Race Tracks vs. Vet Housing

Biggest scandal in the veterans' housing program is the way non-essential race tracks, roller coasters, and bowling alleys divert thousands of feet of precious lumber and carpenters' time, which could be used on homes for veterans.

Among the new or refurnished race tracks are those at Atlantic City and Monmouth, N. J., with the Arlington, Ill., track also attempting to wangle some new reconstruction, and quite a battle raging over the Tanforan track near San Francisco.

The fight over rebuilding Tanforan is an illustration of how energetic race track owners and sleepy-eyed CPA officials co-operate to give veterans' housing the go-by.

On April 26, a San Francisco contractor filed a complaint with CPA (Civilian Production Administration) that the Tanforan race track was getting carpenters by advertising overtime and, as a result, his veterans' housing projects were at a standstill.

CPA, however, ruled that Tanforan was merely demolishing former navy construction, which it ruled was permissible. About this time, however, Tanforan applied for a new construction permit, and, according to Guy Standifer, president of the track, he was encouraged to go ahead by Ed Halloran, regional CPA construction manager. Halloran denies this, but Standifer testifies that Halloran was very sympathetic and virtually told him to go ahead with the work pending action on the permit.

Gambling Joint Gets Lumber

Meanwhile, this columnist, on June 2, publicly called attention to the reconstruction of Tanforan and asked CPA Administrator Jack Small why he was permitting it. Next day, June 3, Gilbert Kneiss, district CPA construction manager claimed that the Tanforan application had been denied on the previous Friday, May 31.

His superior, Mr. Halloran, however, knew nothing about this stop-order and, as of Monday, June 3, had not made up his mind regarding the Tanforan construction permit.

This illustrates one inside reason why CPA lets race tracks, bowling alleys, and roller coasters get built, while veterans' housing is sidetracked. Kneiss, who wanted to stop the Tanforan reconstruction, is an engineer and former district manager of the War Production Board. Halloran, his boss, who wanted the race track built, is a contractor. Contractors usually are sympathetic to the desires of other contractors, and many of the CPA local committees are from the building industry.

However, three days after public comment by this commentator and after CPA allegedly issued its denial of a permit, a CPA inspector found that Tanforan was continuing work on stables, grandstand, clubhouse, and paddock to the tune of about $132,000.

Furthermore, it was found that excess lumber obtained by dismantling temporary war buildings at the race track went to build a new gambling house at Lake Tahoe, Nev., owned in part by E. W. Hepie, Tanforan's contractor. The Tanforan people claimed all this lumber went to veterans, but this was not true. Actually, part of it went to the gambling joint in direct violation of a CPA order.

This is just one illustration of how and why the boys who lived in foxholes are still looking for homes.

Note 1—CPA officials say that veterans' housing is also handicapped in part by some federal judges who don't co-operate in helping to enforce CPA regulations, among them Judges Adolphus St. Sure, Michael Roche, and Martin Welsh in Northern California. In contrast, Judge Louis Goodman, in San Francisco, gives vigorous co-operation in enforcing CPA construction permits.

Note 2—One race track which went out of its way to co-operate with the veterans' housing program is the Southern California Jockey Club. Its president, A. J. Uniack, released all his building material, ordered many months before, to veterans.

We Did Not Defeat Japan

Most people won't believe it, but in Czechoslovakia, a country not unfriendly to the U.S.A., the people have no idea that the United States had anything to do with defeating Japan. They think it was Russia that did it all.

Reason is that the Russian radio and propaganda machine has done a skillful job of propagandizing the Czechoslovak people, while we have done absolutely nothing to counteract it.

Reason we haven't told our side of the story is that Congress has hamstrung the State department on short-wave broadcasting. Led by that great statesman from Grosse Point, Mich., Rep. Louis Rabaut, the House Appropriations committee cut the heart out of the State department's appropriation for propaganda, especially radio broadcasting.

The other day, however, the appropriation bill came before the Senate in a secret hearing. And, believe it or not, the man who knifed his friend, Secretary of State Byrnes, in the back on this appropriation was none other than the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Tom Connally, of Texas.

"An idiotic waste of money," shouted the gentleman from Texas, "devised only by someone who does not understand world affairs."

A few days later, the gentleman from Texas sailed for Paris, with his friend Mr. Byrnes, to try to offset Russian propaganda and diplomacy in Europe.

"How," remarked one State department official who had listened to Connally, "can you fight something with nothing? The Russians are fast turning the people of Czechoslovakia, Romania, Finland, even France and Belgium, against us. Czechoslovakia was founded in the United States with the help of Woodrow Wilson. But we are fast losing that basic friendship because we do nothing to counteract Russian propaganda."

Note — Should the Senate okay Byrnes's appropriation bill while he is in Paris, it would great strengthen his hand at the international conference table.

Production Hopes, Facts Are Mixed, Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

In Washington, especially within the administration, is a prevailing hope, long deferred. It is that full production of goods is at least about to get underway. The hope rests in part on facts, in part on conditions which are themselves hopes. The hopes and the facts are intricately intermingled.

Some facts are in the field of labor. At the moment there are few important strikes. Also, strikes and wage increases in the basic industries have already taken place — strikes in steel, coal, railroads, motors; and in shipping a wage increase to avert a strike. Out of this arises a hope, that there will be no strikes or few of them the rest of the year—especially that there will be none with the devastating effect of strikes in basic industries.

Associated with the hope about labor is one about prices and the Office of Price Administration. The prevailing expectation is that OPA will be continued, with limitations, but with enough authority to avert such dislocation of prices as—so the administration holds—might be a consequence of ending OPA entirely. The administration position about OPA amounts to saying that discontinuance, or serious limitation of it, would result in an immediate rise in prices, justifying more wage demands. (It is necessary to add that there is a school of thought holding that OPA is itself an impediment to full production, that the intricacy of its regulations choke the flow of goods.)

No Charge Legislatively

Any hope that there will not be further labor trouble must rest on something other than legislation. Legislatively there is no change, we are just where we have been. In the commotion that went on during the past two months, there were two bills and a proposal. All are dead.

The Case bill, dealing with labor relations on a broad and permanent basis, passed the House by a more than two-thirds majority, the Senate by a majority approaching two-thirds. President Truman vetoed it.

President Truman, when the railroad strike was on, in a sensational step, asked Congress to give him emergency legislation, for a limited time, empowering him to deal with strikes of a special kind, those affecting the national economy. The House passed it with only a handful of votes dissenting; the Senate, after some modification, also. In its present status the bill awaits adjustment of differences in the versions passed by the House and Senate. The common expectation is that the waiting will be permanent, that nothing will be done. A feeling entertained by persons who think something should be done about labor relations is that the administration, with the crisis of the railroad strike past is not eager to take continued responsibility for the emergency legislation.

With the president's emergency legislation, and the Case bill, and as a substitute for the latter, went a proposal by President Truman. It was that Congress set up a joint committee, that this committee study the labor problem, and report to Congress within six months. The House adopted the proposal immediately. From the House it went to the Senate, and within that body, to the Committee on Labor. There it remains. The Senate Committee on Labor has a majority unfavorable to measures that might result in limitations on unions, it has often been called the "graveyard" of such proposals. In such motion as goes on, there are maneouvers to see that the joint committee, if set up at all, have a personnel sympathetic to labor. The common expectation is that there will be no action.

Conditions Remain Unchanged

All that body of opinion, in Congress and out, which has held that the legal status of labor relations needs to be changed, has been frustrated. As respects legislation, the conditions that made recent strikes possible and succesful. The administration hope that future strikes will be averted or minimized, rests in part on the idea that labor leaders will practice self-restraint.

Whatever goes on during the next four months will have a bearing on the Congressional elections in November. Another wave of strikes would intensify the feeling of voters who blame the administration for the existing labor situation. Abstinence from strikes would be helpful to the administration.

—Labor troubles have hit practically every industry in Uruguay this year.

Stalemate on Atom Bomb Plan Is Seen In Red Statement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 21—There was quite a sigh of relief here among those who never have wanted to give up the atomic bomb secret when they read the co-operative statement by Andrei Gromyko, the Russian representative at the United Nations.

Prior to the speech by the Russian spokesman, it had been feared that the Russians might accept the plan offered by Bernard M. Baruch, the American representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, whereby the atomic secret would be given up gradually as assurance was given by other nations against misuse of atomic energy.

What the Russian counter-plan really does is to produce a stalemate, which is exactly what the proponents of keeping the secret inside American really prefer.

The Baruch plan, which follows the main ideas of the so-called Lilienthal-Acheson report, is considered here to be a masterful presentation of what might properly be called a compromise between those who do not want to give up the secret at all and those who think America can afford to entrust the secret to an international monopoly under certain conditions guaranteeing inspection in foreign lands.

Red Stand No Surprise

It was not seriously thought here that the proposal in the Baruch plan to abolish the veto would be accepted by Russia and it was, therefore, no surprise when the Russians cleverly pointed out that, in effect, the United States is exercising a veto when it refuses to give up the secret except under conditions which the United States can check.

The sentiment for keeping the secret on atomic energy has grown rapidly in Congress and the biggest single influence behind the building up of that sentiment is the attitude of Russia in world affairs. Had the Russians revealed themselves as cooperative instead of obstructive in recent months, it would have been difficult for members of Congress to argue that the atomic secret should be forever kept from any other nation. The Russian tactics have strengthened a belief in many quarters here that the Soviets are bent on world expansion and that they are not interested in preserving world peace but instead are preparing for another war. The Russian military force is the largest in the world today, and the five-year plan announced by Moscow has a strong military aspect. These points are frequently referred to in discussions here.

Considered Revealing

Also the effort of the Soviets to encircle the Balkans and the recently stimulated program of communist infiltration in South America have not made members of Congress feel like handing over the atomic secret to Russia.

The Russian proposal that the United States sign a treaty agreeing not to use the bomb and, instead, binding itself to destroy the bombs that have already been manufactured is considered revealing. For such a suggestion would not be made by a nation which expected to work out the bomb secret itself in a few years.

The agitation inside the United States to persuade our government to give up the atomic bomb data may be expected to rise. Many "left wingers" and many others who are not at all connected with the Communist party line are likely to be calling on the government at Washington to accept the Russian proposal. From the outset the viewpoint outlined by Mr. Gromyko appears to have been propagandized rather widely in this country.

In Congress, on the other hand, there is a Missouri attitude. Show us, say many of the members on Capitol Hill, that we are going to live in a peaceful society and we shall bind ourselves never again to use the bomb. But ever since V-J day the conflicts and controversies between Russia, on the one hand, and the British and American democracies, on the other, have been multiplying.

Russians Not Satisfied

The Russians apparently are not satisfied with their vast territories. They have annexed one-third of Poland—an ally and victim of the war against the Nazis—and have assumed what appears to be control of the individul liberties of citizens in nearby satellite states. This is far different from merely establishing "friendly" states as neighbors. When American and British correspondents are subjected to severe censorship or are excluded from various areas under Russian control, it does not look as if Moscow has learned how to build up confidence in either the United States or Great Britain.

As for the atomic bomb secret, it never was so certain to be kept by the United States than after the Russian proposal was disclosed this week.

YOU MAKE YOUR OWN TRAP

Don't be afraid of life. Life isn't some malign monster over which you have no control—a monster which may pounce on you un-expectedly with some horrid fate. LIFE IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT.

Your fate doesn't come from outside . . . it comes from inside. You, yourself, build it. You do not build it in one great decision. You build it in millions of tiny decisions.

You do not consider these decisions important when you make them. You're hurried, or bothered, or angry, so you do the easiest thing.

"It doesn't really matter," you say to yourself, and go off and forget it. But it does matter, for that unconsidered decision was a link in the chain of fate. Some day that tiny link will help to bind you.

There's poor Jim, doing ten years for embezzlement, over in the pen. Jim's a nice chap, with honest eyes and fine ideals. You'd never believe he stole that money from his bank. He can't believe it himself. The temptation came so suddenly. Or, rather, he thinks it came suddenly.

Actually it had been coming, and he had been yielding to it all his life. Yielding to it in good-natured fibs, small evasions, trivial dishonesties. None of them seemed to matter at the time, but each left its mark. Slowly they ate like dry rot into his character. When the big chance came to steal those thousands he went down before it and he can't understand yet how it happened. He went down like a building that had been undermined because he was a building that had been undermined by unconsidered acts.

No fate ever happens suddenly. We are what we've made ourselves.

Judas was a betrayer years before he gave Christ that fatal kiss. And, by the same token, Lincoln was a leader, years before he ascended the White House steps. A hundred times a day he nominated and elected himself . . . and never knew it!

"But surely there are events over which we have no control—events which shape our whole lives," you say. "Sickness and poverty and the loss of someone you love . . . these things aren't created INSIDE you. They happen from OUTSIDE—"

Yes, they happen from outside—but its the reaction to them, that happens inside you, that really counts. Sickness, poverty and loss happen to millions of people. Some triumph over them, some surrender to them, in just the measure that they've made themselves strong or weak.

Don't be afrid of life. Life is only what you make it. If you must be afraid of anything! BE AFRAID OF YOURSELF!

"I've got Poison Ivy!"

A doctor wrote a prescription for a patient suffering from irritating poison ivy. The quick relief he got was amazing. The doctor gave the druggist who filled the prescription permission to put it up for sale. It's called Cal-A-Grin, and is now on sale in your town. If you don't find it the greatest thing you ever used to relieve the itching of tormenting ivy and oak poison, you can have your money back without an argument. Cal-A-Grin is also great for the itching of athlete's foot, insect bites and minor skin irritations. Thousands of delighted users.

Market, Still "Thin," Gets Back On Feet after Thursday's Slump

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — The stock market, while still exceptionally "thin," got back on its feet today after Thursday's slump as buyers returned with the idea it had been oversold and was in a much healthier technical shape.

While numerous losers persisted, gains of fractions to three or more points were well in the majority at the close. Transfers of 1,340,000 shares compared with 1,310,000 the day before and were the largest since May 29.

Eastman Kodak retrieved thirteen and one-half points at $242 on 1,100 shares after dropping twenty-seven and one-half on 600 shares in the two-day relapse. Hupp Motors gained one and seven-eighths at $10.12 on word former President Knudsen of General Motors, had been elected a director of the company.

Prominent advancers were du Pont, up three and one-half at $213.50. Youngstown Sheet three and one-fourth at $75.50, Chrysler two at $126, Goodrich two and one-fourth at $72 and American Can two and one-fourth at $103.25. Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft and Electric Power and Light.

Dow Chemical was off two and seven-eighths at $181.12. Monsanto Chemical two and one-half at $167, Johns-Manville two and one-fourth at $150 and International Harvester one at $95. Among casualties were American Smelting, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Higher in the Curb were Textron, Howard Stores, Middle West Corporation, Pantepec, Cities Service and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 440,000 shares versus 540,000 yesterday.

Rail issues made a better showing than utility and industrial liens in an irregular lower bond market.

United States governments firmed after a downward start and closed with gains of a few thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market. Victory loan December 2 ½s sold in the stock exchange at 103 26-32, which brought the price in line with the dealer market.

Volume of $4,225,000 compared with $3,840,000 Thursday.

Radcliffe Cites Record

BALTIMORE, June 21—(AP)—Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md), who seeks another term, said tonight that heavy Washington duties have obliged him to "restrict my campaigning to what I could do from Washington and occasionally from Baltimore."

He told a political meeting that his attendance and voting record was very high.

Meanwhile, Gov. O'Conor, Radcliffe's principal opponent for the nomination in Monday's primary, said in a speech prepared for broadcast that Radcliffe had absented himself on many important occasions from the Senate.

BALTIMORE, June 21—(AP)—Former Republican State Sen. Harry O. Levin announced tonight his support of Herman L. Mills for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in Monday's primaries.

In a formal statement, Levin, a Baltimorean, said that the Republican party in Maryland "is at its weakest at the moment" and said that Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore, Mills's opponent, was responsible for the situation.

ing from the building forced firemen to don gas masks. Once inside, they were further hampered by a slippery footing of food and an estimated $8,000 to $10,000 in beer and liquor.

The search for possible other victims continued late today in the shambles of the three levels of the basement comprising the kitchen, laundry and wine cellar.

F. F. Baker, general manager, would not comment as to the cause or the estimated damage.

"All I can say is that an explosion of undetermined cause occurred in the basement," he said.

No fire followed the blast. The first explosive flash seared the subbasement and a foggy ammonia haze billowed through the area. But there were no flames.

Fire Marshal B. C. Hilton, who directed floor-by-floor closing of windows to keep ammonia fumes out of guest rooms, said the absence of fire probably saved a tragic loss of lives. No guests were seriously injured.

American sources emphasized that the ministers were only midway in their examination of Trieste, and would continue the discussions, perhaps at their next meeting tomorrow (10 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.)

Senate Votes To Extend Second War Powers Act

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—A nine-month extension of the broad powers the government now has to allocate and ration commodities was approved today by the Senate.

Without a record vote, it passed legislation continuing in modified form until March 31, 1947, the Second War Powers Act of 1942. On this act rests the government's authority to ration commodities in short supply and establish priorities on their purchase.

The measure, already passed by the House, must return there for action on a Senate amendment stipulating that nothing in it is to be construed as granting authority to establish price ceilings. This authority is in the OPA act, extension of which is now before a Senate-House committee.

Soft Coal

OPA estimated that the new wage contract, raising miners' pay eighteen and one-half cents an hour and authorizing a five-cent per ton levy for a health and welfare fund, will increase operators' costs $280,500,000 for the year ending next March 31. This is figured to include operators' losses caused by the strike and is based on expected production of 550,000,000 tons of coal.

The price hikes are intended to cover $222,750,000 of then higher costs, with the operators absorbing the remaining $57,750,000.

The new prices are effective immediately and date back to May 13 in the case of sales made under agreements for the payment of any increases granted later.

asked by Secretary of State Byrnes for radio broadcasts to foreign countries. The bill goes back to the House for concurrence on this and other amendments. The House had nearly halved the broadcast allowance to $10,000,000.

The army bill carries $375,000,000 for the army's atomic service, $350,000,000 for army government and relief in occupied countries, and $1,199,500,000 for the air forces.

The Senate adopted, by a 28 to 27 vote, an appropriations committee amendment permitting "time studies" in yards and plants, provided that representatives of employe organizations are shown the findings.

Sen. Ball (R-Minn), in supporting the provision, said he had seen men idle in navy yards because "the flow of materials was not organized right."

point I might call your attention to the fact that more than 25,000 people live in these four towns and the total assessed value of the property runs into millions of dollars. One large paper mill is assessed at some $15,000,000 and is subjected to floods which may occur in the North Branch of the Potomac river. In addition to flood prevention, the completion of this project will also guarantee a flow of fresh water in the Potomac river during the dry season which will eliminate the present stagnation and stream pollution.

"It is for these reasons I hope the House will approve the authorization of these two projects."

Rockwood Editor Dies Suddenly While at Work

William Sailes Barber Was Editor and Publisher of Rockwood Leader

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., June 21,—Rites for Williiam Sailes Barber, 53, who died Monday evening while at work in his newspaper plant and job printing office at nearby Rockwood, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Somerset, with services by the pastor, the Rev. John S. Millholland. Interment followed in Grandview cemetery, Johnstown.

At the close of his usual day's work, Barber, publisher of the Rockwood Leader, was engaged in checking plans and specifications for the remodeling of the front of the building occupied by his print shop. He became ill while making some measurements and died immediately.

A past president of the Somerset Lions Club, secretary for a term, and a former member of the Johnstown Lions Club, he also was identified with religious and civic activities both in Somerset and Rockwood. He was a trustee of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Somerset, and a member of the Rockwood school board.

He was born April 28, 1893, in North Liberty, a son of the late Robert M. and Florence Barber. During his early youth he lived in Grove City where he served an apprenticeship under an uncle who operated a newspaper there.

In 1912 he located in Johnstown where he engaged in commercial printing. Later he served as manager of the Somerset County Times, and in 1932 he purchased the Rockwood Leader.

He is survived by his widow, the former Vera M. Smith, Johnstown, whom he married September 15, 1926. His mother, Mrs. Florence Barber, Grove City, also survives.

This was vigorously opposed by both United States Delegate John G. Winant and British Delegate Hector McNeil, who asserted that the proposal cast reflections upon the armies of the United States and Great Britain in whose zones most of the camps are located.

McNeil declared that both the United States and Britain, as well as UNRRA, were being "put in the dock" by the proposal, which was backed by Russia. The proposal was defeated, 9 to 7.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Deceives By Early Mildness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Strangely enough, rheumatic heart disease, dreaded everywhere as a killer and heart-crippler of children, begins its attack with deceptive mildness. There is nothing to alarm or to put the family of the victim on guard, simply a slight infection, usually of the throat, which is apparently over and done with in a few days.

But recovery is apparent only, because after a week or two, this wolf in sheep's clothing pounces in dead earnest, causing acute rheumatic fever, with swelling of the joints, pain, fatigue, loss of weight, poor appetite and, in all-too-many instances, permanent damage to the heart.

Gathers Strength

Just why this disease should start off so innocently, lie quiet in the body for seven to fourteen days, as if gathering strength, and then spring with explosive violence, is not known, and this is only a part of its mystery. Even its cause is uncertain though, according to Dr. Arnold G. Wedum, Denver, a germ called the beta hemolytic streptococcus seems definitely associated with rheumatic fever.

It's a common-enough germ. Many people harbor it with no more than a slight inflammation of the throat and yet, in certain individuals, it seems to bring about this delayed and disastrous illness.

Why?

Well, that's still another unanswered question but Dr. Wedum and most other experts on the subject believe that certain people may be oversensitive to this particular germ or to some substance formed by the germ after it enters the body.

It has been found that in children with rheumatic infection there is a one out of two chances that the disorder will recur after a streptococcal infection of the throat. A cold may cause a recurrence in one out of three instances. Hence, the prevention of colds among rheumatic children is extremely important.

Sulfonamide May Help

It has been found that this possibly can be done by giving a small dose of one of the sulfonamide drugs daily. Of course, this should be done only under the directions of the physician. It has also been noted that recurrent attacks may follow removal of the tonsils or the appendix, or ever after smallpox vaccination.

There is also some evidence that the disease tends to run in families, according to Dr. Wedum. For this reason he thinks it important that the brothers and sisters of patients be examined regularly several times a year so that early signs of rheumatic fever may be detected and proper treatment carried out.

Rheumatic fever starts most often at about the age of seven. Since persons who live in a warm, dry climate tend to have fewer respiratory infections, the rheumatic fever patient may get along better in such surroundings.

Rheumatic fever is an important cause of death among youngsters from 5 to 19 years of age, fourth most important in the country. Even though in the present state of medical knowlelge, it is impossible to prevent its occurrence, many of these lives can still be saved by early treatment and good after-care under the supervision of a doctor.

Market, Still "Thin," Gets Back On Feet after Thursday's Slump

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — The stock market, while still exceptionally "thin," got back on its feet today after Thursday's slump as buyers returned with the idea it had been oversold and was in a much healthier technical shape.

While numerous losers persisted, gains of fractions to three or more points were well in the majority at the close. Transfers of 1,340,000 shares compared with 1,310,000 the day before and were the largest since May 29.

Eastman Kodak retrieved thirteen and one-half points at $242 on 1,100 shares after dropping twenty-seven and one-half on 600 shares in the two-day relapse. Hupp Motors gained one and seven-eighths at $10.12 on word former President Knudsen of General Motors, had been elected a director of the company.

Prominent advancers were du Pont, up three and one-half at $213.50. Youngstown Sheet three and one-fourth at $75.50, Chrysler two at $126, Goodrich two and one-fourth at $72 and American Can two and one-fourth at $103.25. Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft and Electric Power and Light.

Dow Chemical was off two and seven-eighths at $181.12. Monsanto Chemical two and one-half at $167, Johns-Manville two and one-fourth at $150 and International Harvester one at $95. Among casualties were American Smelting, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Higher in the Curb were Textron, Howard Stores, Middle West Corporation, Pantepec, Cities Service and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 440,000 shares versus 540,000 yesterday.

Rail issues made a better showing than utility and industrial liens in an irregular lower bond market.

United States governments firmed after a downward start and closed with gains of a few thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market. Victory loan December 2 ½s sold in the stock exchange at 103 26-32, which brought the price in line with the dealer market.

Volume of $4,225,000 compared with $3,840,000 Thursday.

Police were told the intruder struck Mrs. Metzger after she refused to relinquish the cash box. She lost consciousness, police were told, and was unable to tell officers what weapon the man might have used to strike the blow.

BALTIMORE, June 21—(AP)—Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md), who seeks another term, said tonight that heavy Washington duties have obliged him to "restrict my campaigning to what I could do from Washington and occasionally from Baltimore."

He told a political meeting that his attendance and voting record was very high.

ing from the building forced firemen to don gas masks. Once inside, they were further hampered by a slippery footing of food and an estimated $8,000 to $10,000 in beer and liquor.

The search for possible other victims continued late today in the shambles of the three levels of the basement comprising the kitchen, laundry and wine cellar.

F. F. Baker, general manager, would not comment as to the cause or the estimated damage.

"All I can say is that an explosion of undetermined cause occurred in the basement," he said.

No fire followed the blast. The first explosive flash seared the subbasement and a foggy ammonia haze billowed through the area. But there were no flames.

Fire Marshal B. C. Hilton, who directed floor-by-floor closing of windows to keep ammonia fumes out of guest rooms, said the absence of fire probably saved a tragic loss of lives. No guests were seriously injured.

Senate Votes To Extend Second War Powers Act

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—A nine-month extension of the broad powers the government now has to allocate and ration commodities was approved today by the Senate.

Without a record vote, it passed legislation continuing in modified form until March 31, 1947, the Second War Powers Act of 1942. On this act rests the government's authority to ration commodities in short supply and establish priorities on their purchase.

The measure, already passed by the House, must return there for action on a Senate amendment stipulating that nothing in it is to be construed as granting authority to establish price ceilings. This authority is in the OPA act, extension of which is now before a Senate-House committee.

Soft Coal

OPA estimated that the new wage contract, raising miners' pay eighteen and one-half cents an hour and authorizing a five-cent per ton levy for a health and welfare fund, will increase operators' costs $280,500,000 for the year ending next March 31. This is figured to include operators' losses caused by the strike and is based on expected production of 550,000,000 tons of coal.

The price hikes are intended to cover $222,750,000 of then higher costs, with the operators absorbing the remaining $57,750,000.

The new prices are effective immediately and date back to May 13 in the case of sales made under agreements for the payment of any increases granted later.

asked by Secretary of State Byrnes for radio broadcasts to foreign countries. The bill goes back to the House for concurrence on this and other amendments. The House had nearly halved the broadcast allowance to $10,000,000.

The army bill carries $375,000,000 for the army's atomic service, $350,000,000 for army government and relief in occupied countries, and $1,199,500,000 for the air forces.

The Senate adopted, by a 28 to 27 vote, an appropriations committee amendment permitting "time studies" in yards and plants, provided that representatives of employe organizations are shown the findings.

Sen. Ball (R-Minn), in supporting the provision, said he had seen men idle in navy yards because "the flow of materials was not organized right."

point I might call your attention to the fact that more than 25,000 people live in these four towns and the total assessed value of the property runs into millions of dollars. One large paper mill is assessed at some $15,000,000 and is subjected to floods which may occur in the North Branch of the Potomac river. In addition to flood prevention, the completion of this project will also guarantee a flow of fresh water in the Potomac river during the dry season which will eliminate the present stagnation and stream pollution.

"It is for these reasons I hope the House will approve the authorization of these two projects."

Rockwood Editor Dies Suddenly While at Work

William Sailes Barber Was Editor and Publisher of Rockwood Leader

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., June 21.—Rites for William Sailes Barber, 53, who died Monday evening while at work in his newspaper plant and job printing office at nearby Rockwood, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Somerset, with services by the pastor, the Rev. John S. Millholland. Interment followed in Grandview cemetery, Johnstown.

At the close of his usual day's work, Barber, publisher of the Rockwood Leader, was engaged in checking plans and specifications for the remodeling of the front of the building occupied by his print shop. He became ill while making some measurements and died immediately.

A past president of the Somerset Lions Club, secretary for a term, and a former member of the Johnstown Lions Club, he also was identified with religious and civic activities both in Somerset and Rockwood. He was a trustee of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Somerset, and a member of the Rockwood school board.

He was born April 28, 1893, in North Liberty, a son of the late Robert M. and Florence Barber. During his early youth he lived in Grove City where he served an apprenticeship under an uncle who operated a newspaper there.

In 1912 he located in Johnstown where he engaged in commercial printing. Later he served as manager of the Somerset County Times, and in 1932 he purchased the Rockwood Leader.

He is survived by his widow, the former Vera M. Smith, Johnstown, whom he married September 15, 1926. His mother, Mrs. Florence Barber, Grove City, also survives.

This was vigorously opposed by both United States Delegate John G. Winant and British Delegate Hector McNeil, who asserted that the proposal cast reflections upon the armies of the United States and Great Britain in whose zones most of the camps are located.

McNeil declared that both the United States and Britain, as well as UNRRA, were being "put in the dock" by the proposal, which was backed by Russia. The proposal was defeated, 9 to 7.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Deceives By Early Mildness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Strangely enough, rheumatic heart disease, dreaded everywhere as a killer and heart-crippler of children, begins its attack with deceptive mildness. There is nothing to alarm or to put the family of the victim on guard, simply a slight infection, usually of the throat, which is apparently over and done with in a few days.

But recovery is apparent only, because after a week or two, this wolf in sheep's clothing pounces in dead earnest, causing acute rheumatic fever, with swelling of the joints, pain, fatigue, loss of weight, poor appetite and, in all-too-many instances, permanent damage to the heart.

Gathers Strength

Just why this disease should start off so innocently, lie quiet in the body for seven to fourteen days, as if gathering strength, and then spring with explosive violence, is not known, and this is only a part of its mystery. Even its cause is uncertain though, according to Dr. Arnold G. Wedum, Denver, a germ called the beta hemolytic streptococcus seems definitely associated with rheumatic fever.

It's a common-enough germ. Many people harbor it with no more than a slight inflammation of the throat and yet, in certain individuals, it seems to bring about this delayed and disastrous illness.

Why?

Well, that's still another unanswered question but Dr. Wedum and most other experts on the subject believe that certain people may be oversensitive to this particular germ or to some substance formed by the germ after it enters the body.

It has been found that in children with rheumatic infection there is a one out of two chances that the disorder will recur after a streptococcal infection of the throat. A cold may cause a recurrence in one out of three instances. Hence, the prevention of colds among rheumatic children is extremely important.

Sulfonamide May Help

It has been found that this possibly can be done by giving a small dose of one of the sulfonamide drugs daily. Of course, this should be done only under the directions of the physician. It has also been noted that recurrent attacks may follow removal of the tonsils or the appendix, or ever after smallpox vaccination.

There is also some evidence that the disease tends to run in families, according to Dr. Wedum. For this reason he thinks it important that the brothers and sisters of patients be examined regularly several times a year so that early signs of rheumatic fever may be detected and proper treatment carried out.

Rheumatic fever starts most often at about the age of seven. Since persons who live in a warm, dry climate tend to have fewer respiratory infections, the rheumatic fever patient may get along better in such surroundings.

Rheumatic fever is an important cause of death among youngsters from 5 to 19 years of age, fourth most important in the country. Even though in the present state of medical knowlelge, it is impossible to prevent its occurrence, many of these lives can still be saved by early treatment and good after-care under the supervision of a doctor.

Young Girl Often Is Jealous of Her Brother's Friends

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going steady with a fellow since January. We are very fond of each other and get along fine.

My only problem is with his 15-year-old sister. Regardless of what I do, she seems to disagree. She resents me no end. I can't understand it because I have never done anything to hurt her. She is not the only girl in the family; there are two other sisters. On one occasion I asked her why she acted that way, but she refused to answer. I have not said anything to anyone, but she is hurting me constantly, and I fear that she will turn her brother against me, even though he loves me. I have tried to win her affection in many ways, but it just seems useless.

What am I to do? Should I have it out with my boy friend? I want to tell him, but I fear it will hurt him.

CONFUSED .

The probability is that this girl feels a little jealous of her brother's attentions to you. That can often happen, especially if a girl is particularly fond of her brother. When he gives evidence of interest in someone else, the sister feels left out.

So, in her way, she no doubt feels hurt, too, and your cue is to try to be patient and kind with her. Be understanding enough so that you get over your own hurt feelings, and try to see it from her point of view. If you are consistently nice to her, and thoughtful of her, I'm sure you can win her over in time.

No, don't bother your boy friend with the thing. Don't make it more important than it is by calling attention to it. You do your part, don't take offense at anything the sister does, and it should all work out. If your boy friend really loves you, no one should be able to turn him against you.

STATEMENT OF CHARLES N. WILKINSON

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

IF any further proof were needed that my opponents are getting desperate, it can be found in the smear campaign launched against me personally in both daily newspapers in the last few days.

IN a large paid newspaper advertisement, both Commissioners Green and Holmes take great credit to themselves because I proposed a tax exemption for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company which was not granted, and which, consequently, cost the taxpayers nothing. By multiplying a loss of nothing by six, they suggest that I gave away what they claim to be the "tidy" sum of $241,288.56, or at least attempted to give it away, and that they stepped in like gallant heroes and saved that large sum for the County.

RIGHT here it is only fair to look at the record of those two gentlemen to see not what tax exemptions they proposed but what tax exemptions they actually granted and not what those tax exemptions granted saved the taxpayers of this County but, as a matter of fact exactly what they cost the taxpayers.

HERE is their record on it: On June 13, 1941, Messrs. Green and Holmes were on the three man Board of County Commissioners. I was not on it. On that date the Board exempted the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company from the payment of County taxes on its machinery for ten long years and Messrs. Green and Holmes both voted for the exemption. On November 30, 1942, they were still members of the Board and I was still not on it, and on that date the Board exempted the Celanese Corporation from the payment of taxes on its machinery for ten long years and both Messrs. Green and Holmes voted for the exemption. As shown by the assessment books, the machinery exempted for the year 1945 for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is valued at $3,097,560.00 which, at the present tax rate of $1.77 per $100.00, amounts to $54,826.81 which Messrs. Green and Holmes cost the taxpayers this year. If you multiply that by ten, you can readily see that before the exemption period of ten years is over, they will have cost the County taxpayers over one-half million dollars on this item alone.

THE Celanese Corporation machinery assessment on which the exemption was granted for the year 1945 amounts to $7,507,990.00 which, taxed at the present rate of $1.77 per $100,00, amounts to $132,891.42 which Messrs. Green and Holmes cost the taxpayers of this County this year on that exemption. Multiply it by ten and we have the fantastic but not "tidy" sum of $1,328,-914.20 which they cost the taxpayers for the ten year exemption period on this item alone.

TO summarize this exemption business, Messrs. Green and Holmes have so discriminated against the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company factory located here in the City of Cumberland, and favored the Celanese Corporation and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, with plants located in the County but not in the City, as to cost the taxpayers almost $2,000,000.00, and these figures can be verified at the Office of the State Tax Commission in Baltimore City. That sum of almost $2,000,000.00, not in any sense to be called "tidy," was not merely proposed or talked over by the County Commissioners mentioned. It was voted away by both of them because two votes always control the three man Board of County Commissioners and necessarily must.

I agree with both of the gentlemen in their published statement that "the taxpayers of Allegany County are entitled to know the services rendered them by the County Commissioners who are now in office."

BOTH as a County Commissioner and as a man I am against discrimination and I believe that taxes should be collected uniformly from individuals as well as from large corporations of a similar nature.

SOME friends of my political opponents are crying out that I am trying to be a "Political Boss" in this County. On that score those same men could point out with no particular discernment at all, if they would only do it, the Political Boss of the clique that seeks to perpetuate itself in the Court House by underaking to defeat me in this campaign. Who is it that will be State and County Tax Collector for this district for the next four years if they succeed in thwarting me?

IMAGINE, if you can, anyone calling me a "Political Boss," when four years ago I was nominated and then elected at the General Election to the office of County Commissioner and in both instances received more votes than either of the other two winners, which was most gratifying, but was not permitted by those who are opposing me now to make a single political appointment. Certainly seeking reelection for a second term as County Commissioner is not seeking to become a "Political Boss," because the other two Commissioners seeking reelection have already served two and three terms respectively.

IN closing let me say that if the time ever comes when I have it in my power to throw out some of the chronic Republican political appointees of this County, I will act without hesitation. Don't think I won't. I promise to do it.

I again pledge myself to clean government, administered by upright, untarnished people and I solicit the vote and support of all those kinds of persons in this entire County.

Signed,

CHARLES N. WILKINSON.

Henderson Lauds Outpost Members At Legion Dinner

Cumberland Attorney Is Principal Speaker at Frostburg Event

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 21 — George Henderson, Cumberland attorney and veteran of both World wars, was the principal speaker at a banquet held last evening at the Clary club by Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, in honor of members of Outpost 24-B, Air Warning Service, who served as volunteer airplane spotters here during the war.

Ninety-five members of the outpost attended, including the two oldest members, E. B. Prichard and Edwin Elias, Sr., whose combined ages total 154 years, and the youngest member, Thomas Sluss, who served regularly as a spotter at the age of 13.

Henderson congratulated the guests for the patriotic service they provided during the war. At the time the air warning service was organized, he said, the army did not know what might happen, and civilians were asked to make many sacrifices in order to be alert for any emergency. The idea back of the preparations, so far as air warning was concerned, was that it was better to have an organization, even if not needed, than to be without it in case of need.

Charles Cole, commander of Farrady post, delivered the address of welcome, and Adam Kalbaugh served as toastmaster. The invocation was offered by Edwin Elias. The financial report of the treasurer was read by Charles N. Hill.

Kalbaugh read a telegram of regret from Rej. J. Glenn Beall, who was unable to be present. In reviewing the history of the post, Kalbaugh paid tribute to Fred W. Boettner, who kept the records; Walter Cook, organizer; County Commissioner S. W. Green, who furnished much free transportation; J. Stanley Espy, teacher of a school of instructions; and David T. Adams, assistant chief observer.

Following the banquet, the members of the outpost passed a resolution authorizing the officers to arrange for an anniversary banquet in 1947.

Celebration Date Set

The committee of the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce in charge of the proposed homecoming reception for veterans of World War II of Frostburg and vicinity, met last evening and decided to hold the celebration Monday, September 2, Labor day.

Kenneth Jenkins, chairman of the committee, reported that he had contacted local labor unions and other groups who usually hold Labor Day events and found that none was planned that would interfere with the homecoming reception. The program will be along the lines of a similar reception held here September 15, 1919, in honor of veterans of World War 1, Jenkins said.

The Frostburg Fire Department informed the committee that they will hold a games party Friday evening, June 28, and will turn the proceeds over to the Jaycee committee.

Kelly Rites Set

Services for Francis Patrick Kelly, 50, an employe of the Hercules Powder Company at Pinto, who died suddenly last night at his home, 67 Mt. Pleasant street, after suffering a heart attack, will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michaels Catholic church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

A native of Eckhart, Mr. Kelly was a son of the late Francis and Christine Eckhart Kelly. He resided in Eckhart until seven years ago, when he moved to Frostburg. Prior to working at Pinto, he was a Celanese worker and a coal miner. Mr. Kelly was a member of St. Michael's Catholic church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Margaret Donahue Kelly, he is survived by four sons, Sgt. Major Michael Francis Kelly, Camp Swift, Tex.; and Eugene, John and Walter Kelly, at home; a daughter, Mary Margaret Kelly, also at home; two brothers, John Lee Kelly, Frostburg, and Eugene Kelly, Cumberland; and four sisters Mrs. Edith Condry, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Dora Newman, Eckhart; and Mrs. Mary Walters and Mrs. Margaret A. Peddicord, both of Cumberland.

William Lewis Rites

Initial funeral services for William T. Lewis, Eckhart, World War II veteran, which were held Wednesday, were conducted by the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

Frostburg Briefs

George Henderson, Cumberland, was the speaker Monday evening at a party in Legion hall when Farrady post entertained seven veterans of World War II who graduated from Beall high school with the class of 1946. The post presented each of the graduates with a pen and pencil set, wit W. H. Lemmert making the presentation. William Rankin, Lonaconing, presided and the Rev. Walter D. Mehrling offered a prayer. Commander Charles Cole announced that Farrady post needs only forty members to reach the goal of 1,000 set for 1946.

The vacation Bible school of First Methodist church, planned for two weeks, will open Monday. Children from 4 to 14 years of age will me enrolled for classes which will begin at 9 a. m., each day. The program of study, worship, work and play is free, but an offering will be taken. Miss Patricia Warehime is the registrar. Because of the shortage of space, only members of the Methodist Sunday school are eligible.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Patsy Green, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. S. W. Green, has been in Baltimore visiting her mother, Mrs. Lilly Green, a patient in Union Memorial hospital, where she underwent an operation for injuries sustained May 16 in an automobile accident. Mrs. Green is reported somewhat improved, but may have to undergo an operation on one of her eyes, which was affected by the shock of the accident. Miss Eunice Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Irwin, Hill street, a former neighbor of the Green family and a supervising nurse at Union Memorial hospital, is a constant visitor at Mrs. Green's bedside.

Charles Graham, Jr., Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sol Robson and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Eichhorn, East Main street.

Henderson Lauds Outpost Members At Legion Dinner

Cumberland Attorney Is Principal Speaker at Frostburg Event

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 21 — George Henderson, Cumberland attorney and veteran of both World wars, was the principal speaker at a banquet held last evening at the Clary club by Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, in honor of members of Outpost 24-B, Air Warning Service, who served as volunteer airplane spotters here during the war.

Ninety-five members of the outpost attended, including the two oldest members, E. B. Prichard and Edwin Elias, Sr., whose combined ages total 154 years, and the youngest member, Thomas Sluss, who served regularly as a spotter at the age of 13.

Henderson congratulated the guests for the patriotic service they provided during the war. At the time the air warning service was organized, he said, the army did not know what might happen, and civilians were asked to make many sacrifices in order to be alert for any emergency. The idea back of the preparations, so far as air warning was concerned, was that it was better to have an organization, even if not needed, than to be without it in case of need.

Charles Cole, commander of Farrady post, delivered the address of welcome, and Adam Kalbaugh served as toastmaster. The invocation was offered by Edwin Elias. The financial report of the treasurer was read by Charles N. Hill.

Kalbaugh read a telegram of regret from Rej. J. Glenn Beall, who was unable to be present. In reviewing the history of the post, Kalbaugh paid tribute to Fred W. Boettner, who kept the records; Walter Cook, organizer; County Commissioner S. W. Green, who furnished much free transportation; J. Stanley Espy, teacher of a school of instructions; and David T. Adams, assistant chief observer.

Following the banquet, the members of the outpost passed a resolution authorizing the officers to arrange for an anniversary banquet in 1947.

Celebration Date Set

The committee of the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce in charge of the proposed homecoming reception for veterans of World War II of Frostburg and vicinity, met last evening and decided to hold the celebration Monday, September 2, Labor day.

Kenneth Jenkins, chairman of the committee, reported that he had contacted local labor unions and other groups who usually hold Labor day events and found that none was planned that would interfere with the homecoming reception. The program will be along the lines of a similar reception held here September 15, 1919, in honor of veterans of World War 1, Jenkins said.

The Frostburg Fire Department informed the committee that they will hold a games party Friday evening, June 28, and will turn the proceeds over to the Jaycee committee.

Commander Charles Cole announced that Farrady post needs only forty members to reach the goal of 1,000 set for 1946.

The vacation Bible school of First Methodist church, planned for two weeks, will open Monday. Children from 4 to 14 years of age will me enrolled for classes which will begin at 9 a. m., each day. WESTERNPORT, June 21.—The eight-week playground program sponsored by the Tri-Towns Recreational Association will begin Monday and continue through the week ending August 16. Larry Patterson, Piedmont, will again serve as director, assisted by David McIntyre and William Hannon, seniors of Bruce high school. One assistant will be at each playground, with Patterson dividing his time between the two.

The Piedmont swimming pool will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 10 to 12 with instructions in swimming being given. A nominal charge will be made for the use of the pool during those periods.

Junior and senior softball leagues are being organized, with four teams already entered in each and more expected to enter.

Senior league games will be played at 5:30 p. m. and in the junior league at 2 p. m. Rainy weather has delayed the improvement of the Piedmont grounds and for the present all games will be played on the Bruce field. The association will furnish the balls and bats.

WHOSE Boy IS THIS ?

Juvenile delinquency has become America's foremost social problem. Each week thousands of children and teen-age youth are brought into the courts of the country charged with crime or serious misdemeanor.

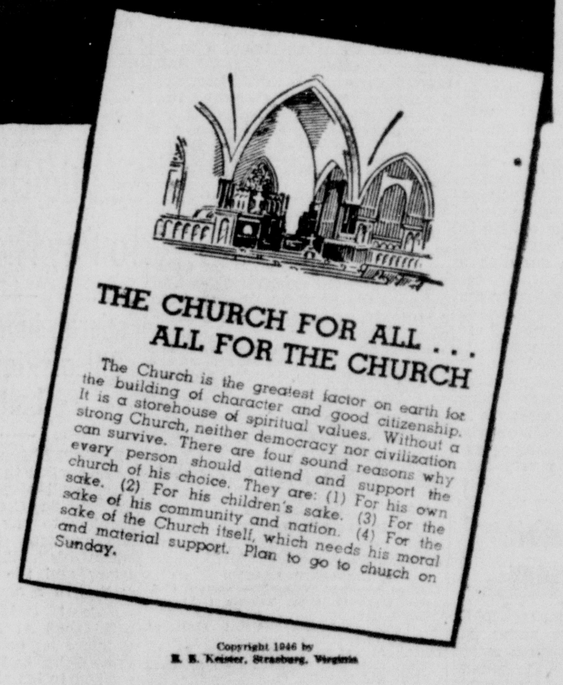

States and localities spend millions of dollars each year in an effort to curb youthful lawlessness and redeem misguided boys and girls from lives of crime.

Many factors contribute to juvenile waywardness. The most important is the deterioration of home influence and the failure of parents to provide a family life conducive to the moral and spiritual welfare of their children.

The influence of the home outweighs all other influences in a child's life. Religion in the home, and in the lives of parents, is the key to the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Children who from their infancy are taught moral and spiritual rectitude seldom stray far from the path of right and duty. Every child needs a good home and the influence of religion in his life.

The Church combats evil influences which surround our lives from infancy. It plants in our homes and in our hearts the principles of Christian thinking and right living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

Juvenile delinquency has become America's foremost social problem. Each week thousands of children and teen-age youth are brought into the courts of the country charged with crime or serious misdemeanor.

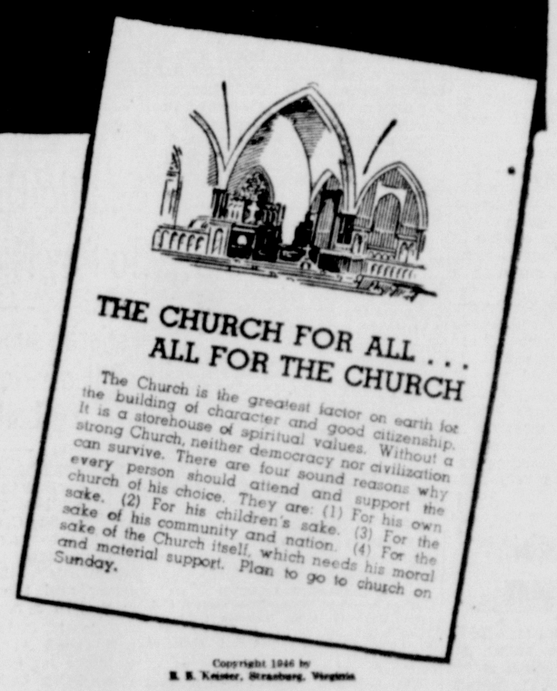

States and localities spend millions of dollars each year in an effort to curb youthful lawlessness and redeem misguided boys and girls from lives of crime.

Many factors contribute to juvenile waywardness. The most important is the deterioration of home influence and the failure of parents to provide a family life conducive to the moral and spiritual welfare of their children.

The influence of the home outweighs all other influences in a child's life. Religion in the home, and in the lives of parents, is the key to the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Children who from their infancy are taught moral and spiritual rectitude seldom stray far from the path of right and duty. Every child needs a good home and the influence of religion in his life.

The Church combats evil influences which surround our lives from infancy. It plants in our homes and in our hearts the principles of Christian thinking and right living.

Williams Street 5, V. F. W. 3
Shamrocks 4, Maccabees 3
Legion-Keegan's, wet grounds

Gene Scaletta pitched and batted East Side into first place in the City Softball League yesterday when he tossed a four-hitter and produced a two-base wallop in the tenth inning which sent Lacy's Delicatets down to defeat at Taylor field by the score of 3-2.

The East Siders spotted Lacy's three runs in the first two frames and then knotted the count in the third inning when Grimes doubled with the bases full.

Brow's Hit Ties Score

Lacy's moved ahead at 4-3 in the fourth when W. Orndorff scored on Scaletta's wild pitch but in the seventh East Side sent the game into extra innings when Gene Whitman doubled and came home on "Murph" Brown's single.

Seltzer's walk and Scaletta's two-base wallop sewed up the game in the third overtime stanza.

Stottlemeyer and Whitman shared four of the winners' nine hits. Lou Valentine's shoestring catch in right field was the outstanding fielding play.

While East Side moved into first place the first half championship is still undecided due to several postponed games which must be played off before the second half opens next Wednesday.

Shamrocks Cop Another

The Shamrocks scored their fifth straight victory over the Maccabees, 4-3, at Campobello, by rallying for two runs in the final inning but were unable to advance in the standings due to Williams Street's 5 to 3 triumph over the Veteras of Foreign Wars at East Side field. Each team has won ten games and lost eight.

In the latter contest Bill Underdong held the Vets to three hits. Forrest Snider connected for a single and home run with one aboard and Cage obtained the other safety. Eddie Decker had a perfect day for Williams Street by hitting safely four times. Joe Reed got three hits in four trips and Bill Dean hammered a triple with two on the bassocks in the fourth.

The American Legion-Keegan's Jupers game, scheduled for Community Park, was postponed on account of wet grounds. Scores:

Cronin Is Moanin' Arc-Light Blues

Nocturnal Games May Be Answer to Boston's Dismal Showing

CLEVELAND, June 21—(AP)—The league-leading Red Sox, whose once comfortable margin has shrunk from 10 to 6½ games in less than a week, apparently left their batting eyes back in Fenway park.

After watching his charges drop seven of their last eight games (prior to tonight) Joe Cronin is moanin' the arc-light blues.

Back in Boston the bats of the rampaging Yankeymen were on fire. Since taking to the road and night baseball, the Sox lumber has slowed down to a wispy smolder.

The Red Sox play no after-dark games at home, and this may be the answer to their present dismal showing. They scored only one run in their last thirty innings before watching Bobby Feller's fast ball under the lights again tonight.

Look what happened to the pacesetters in St. Louis in three nocturnal engagements: Jack Kramer gave 'em five hits to win 7-1; Muncrief allowed four bingles to shut them out, 1-0, and Zoldak repeated the performance Thursday night in racking up a 2-0 win.

The Sox sorely miss the injured Dom DiMaggio. Not only has the "little professor" been wielding a potent stick but his incomparable fielding always has had a tightening effect on the Sox defense. Dom is working out daily and will be rushed back to his centerfield spot as soon as his injured leg permits.

Meanwhile, Joe Cronin would like his boys to play in daylight.

Coon Dog Trials Set for Tomorrow

The opening event is scheduled for 12 o'clock noon.

Trinity Methodist Wins

Trinity Methodist pounded out seventeen hits to defeat Second Baptist by the score of 15-5 in a South Cumberland Sunday School Softball League game yesterday at Brinker field.

Sulser fanned nine Baptist batsmen. Five of the winners' hits went for extra bases—two doubles and one three-bagger. Score:

27 Win $1,416 Each On "Daily Double" At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP) — Twenty-seven race fans won $1,416.60 each today at Arlington Park in the biggest daily double of the Chicago racing season.

The lucky ticket holders had Bright Stage in the first five furlong race and Loango in the second, a one-mile run.

Bright Stage was the long shot, paying $130.20, $40.40 and $23.20.

Loango brought $17.40, $8.50 and $6.80.

In 1939 a daily double at Chicago's Washington Park paid $10,772.40, believed to be the highest in American turf history. Only one ticket was sold on the combination of Joy Bet and Merry Caroline.

"Red" Mauk Asks Prompt Payment Of Expense Money

Stresses Fees Being Paid Out-of-Town Boxers for Matches Here

Presley W. "Red" Mauk, manager of the South End Athletic Club boxing team, last night answered Robert "Sparky" Chisholm's charges of June 19 in the Cumberland Evening Times, by declaring that he accepted an offer of $120 and eight pairs of boxing trunks for American Legion tournament and non-tournament bouts in which his boys participated April 1, 8 and 15 at the state armory and added that the terms of this agreement were not carried out by the promoters.

Mauk charged that Chisholm, in his statement, stretched the definition of an "amateur" and also stressed the fact that there is no objection made on the part of the promoters to pay from $100 to $150 expenses when a team of four out-of-town fighters puts on a one night's performance here.

Answering Chisholm's charges, Mauk, in a prepared statement, said:

"The South Cumberland A. C. boys fought twelve of the sixteen tournament bouts at the state armory April 1, 8 and 15 for which my bill to the Legion boxing committee was $55 for club expenses, plus prizes due the boys.

"After six weeks of waiting I finally arranged with the evasive Chisholm and Fleming a meeting at the Legion home. Then in order to make a quick settlement I accepted their terms. Their offer to me then was $120 and eight pairs of boxing trunks for tournament and non-tournament bouts in which my boys participated. Chisholm requested me to bill the Legion accordingly, with the signatures of the boys waiving their rights to other prizes. The request was promptly complied with.

"I am operating a boxing club as a hobby, not for a profit. I would not be so small as to try to steal a couple of dollars from the boys.

"Mr. Chisholm certainly has stretched the definition of an amateur. May I call his attention to the fact that there was no objection to paying expenses of $100 to $150 for a team of four out-of-town boxers who put on a one-night's performance here.

"Yes, Mr. Chisholm did offer me used boxing gloves. I declined, as my boys are worthy of new ones. I am again asking prompt payment of $120 which was promised me by Chisholm, so that I might purchase for my boys the necessary boxing equipment to further themselves in the sport. Several of the boys who participated in the tournament will be in the army in the very near future."

Johnston Is Medalist In Maryland Tourney

BALTIMORE, June 21. (AP)—Eddie Johnston shot a three under par 67 to win the medal from a record field of 151 players as the annual Maryland amateur championship tournament got underway today on his home course, the Country Club of Maryland.

The first 16 was filled with contestants who posted scores of 77 or under, with a playoff necessary at the top figure.

Harris Tossers Win

FROSTBURG, June 21—Gus Harris hurled his league leading Harris's Restaurant team to an 11-8 victory over the V.F.W. in a Frostburg Softball League game here today. The big blow was Willard LaRue's homer with one aboard in the fifth inning. Goldsworthy, of Harris's and Anderson, of the Vets, had two hits each. Score:

HARRIS	11	14	1
V. F. W.	8	11	4

Harris and Hughes. Donus, Anderson and Render.

Hal Newhouser Notches Twelfth Pitching Victory

Detroit Ace Whiffs Ten Yankees in Marking Up 6-2 Triumph

DETROIT, June 21. (AP)—With four New York errors making his task simple, Hal Newhouser achieved his twelfth pitching triumph of the year and the one hundredth of his seven-year big league career today as the Detroit Tigers pasted the Yankees 6 to 2.

Newhouser, who struck out ten men, had a two-hit shutout until the ninth, when Charley Keller doubled and Joe DiMaggio lined his thirteenth homer into the right centerfield seats 400 feet from the plate.

Hal's four-hit pitching looked considerably better than the six-hit job turned in by three Yankee flippers, however, as New York miscues led to four unearned Detroit runs. Box:

BOSOX BEAT FELLER

CLEVELAND, June 21 (AP)—Tex Hughson edged Bob Feller in a mound duel tonight as the Boston Red Sox snapped a four-game losing streak to defeat the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0. The Sox snared their run in the second when Bobby Doerr tripled and came home on Rudy York's foul fly.

Hughson, recently recovered from a hand injury, limited the Tribe to three singles, fanned nine and retired the side in order in seven of the nine innings.

The triumph was the Red Sox's second in eight games on the current western trip, and hiked their league lead to 7½ games over the New York Yankees, who lost to Detroit today. Score:

Efforts Being Made To Purchase Pirates

PITTSBURGH, June 21—(AP)—New reports that the Pittsburgh Pirates were on the block—with sales negotiations "hot"—circulated tonight and were denied categorically by Mrs. Barney Dreyfuss, board chairman of the National League Baseball Club.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said efforts to purchase the club "definitely are being made" but that "neither the agent for the would-be purchaser, nor spokesmen for the Pittsburgh Baseball Club would reveal who is making the offer."

Nelson, McSpaden Grab Leadership In Ohio Tourney

Hold 2-Point Advantage over Hogan-Demaret in Best Ball Meet

By HAROLD HARRISON

TOLEDO, O., June 21 (AP)—Shooting consecutive best ball rounds of 64, the team of Byron Nelson of Toledo and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., was out in front by two points today at the end of the third round of the Inverness invitational golf tournament.

Nelson and McSpaden drubbed Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., five up in the morning round and then came back to do the same kind of a job on Herman Keiser of Akron, O., and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., in the afternoon.

Those two triumphs gave the Nelson-McSpaden duo a score of 13 points to 11 for Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., the first day leaders.

Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif. and national open champion Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles whipped Hogan and Demaret in the forenoon, one up, but the Hogan-Demaret pair came back in the afternoon with a blistering best ball score of 63 to lace Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., five up.

It was the second 63 for Hogan and Demaret in three rounds.

In the other afternoon matches Mangrum and Little defeated Bob Hamilton and Dick Metz of Chicago one up, and Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., were two up winners over Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Mich., and E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark.

The standing at the end of three rounds was:

Nelson-McSpaden	plus 13
Hogan-Demaret	plus 11
Mangrum-Little	plus 3
Keiser-Harper	minus 1
Snead-Ghezzi	minus 4
Penna-Barron	minus 4
Hamilton-Metz	minus 4
Byrd-Harrison	minus 12

The Nelson-McSpaden team took a one-hole lead over Keiser and Harper during the first nine of their afternoon match on the strength of Nelson's birdie four on the ninth hole.

Coming home the boys cut loose with a brilliant 31, five under par and took four of the nine holes. On the 18th, McSpaden, farthest away from the pin, canned a 40-foot putt for the final birdie.

The complete day's results:

Forenoon:
Nelson-McSpaden defeated Penna-Barron	5 up
Snead-Ghezzi defeated Byrd-Harrison	3 up
Mangrum-Little defeated Hogan-Demaret	1 up
Keiser-Harper defeated Metz-Hamilton	2 up

Seattle Ordered To Pay Niemiec

Federal Judge Applies GI Bill of Rights to Baseball Case

SEATTLE, June 21 (AP)—A federal judge applied the GI Bill of Rights to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharged second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly prewar salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, less what he earns in his present job with the Providence (R.I.) Cranston club of the New England League.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."

Tom A. Durham, assistant United States attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torchy Torrance of the Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion — due next Monday — before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.

Trojans, Illini Place Eight Men In Track Finals

McKenley, La Beach Share Spotlight in NCAA Preliminaries

By JERRY LISKA

MINNEAPOLIS, June 21 (AP)—The opening session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet today followed script on the ballyhooed scrap between Southern California and Illinois as each qualified eight performers, but the get-away failed to dent the record book.

The Trojans and Illini, along with two brilliant individual stars, Sprinter Lloyd La Beach of Wisconsin and Hurdler Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, dominated the 10-event preliminary skirmishing at the University of Minnesota.

Finals in fourteen events, including the high jump, pole vault, mile and two-mile, for which there was no qualifying competition, will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The Illini, Big Ten and Central Collegiate champions, placed their eight qualifiers in six events, including two each in the 440 and 220-yard runs. Southern California's eight qualifiers were bracketed in seven events, thanks mainly to versatile La Lawrence, who was one of three performers who qualified in three events.

Trailing the co-favorites were Ohio State, New York University and Minnesota with four qualifiers each; Texas, Wisconsin, Baylor, Colorado, Oklahoma A & M, and Missouri with three apiece; and Michigan State, Pittsburgh, Baldwin-Wallace, Rice, Purdue, UCLA, and Kansas, two each. Eighteen schools qualified one each.

The best performances of the day were fashioned by a pair of neighborhood pals from Kingston, Jamaica, in the British West Indies, Quarter-Miler Herb McKenley of Illinois and Lloyd La Beach of Wisconsin.

McKenley who three weeks ago ran a world record shattering 440 in :46.2, galloped easily to a :47.5 trial victory, four-tenths of a second slower than Ben Eastman's American record for a quarter-mile around two turns.

La Beach, who also had the best 220 time of :21.2, breezed the 100-yard route in :09.6, tying the stadium record established in 1940 by Barney Ewell of Penn State.

TEXCEL CLUB KNOCKS WOW FROM RUNNER-UP POSITION IN LEAGUE

The Texcel Club knocked the Woodmen of the World out of second place in the Rocking Chair Softball League by defeating the latter yesterday by the score of 7 to 1 on the Rolling Mill diamond.

The result of yesterday's contest moved the B.P.O. Elks and Cumberland Outdoor Club into the runner-up position, two and one-half games in the rear of the pacesetting Knights of Columbus.

Jimmie Diehl limited the Woodmen to five hits, four of which were shared by Proudfoot and Holshey. Miller, Harvey and Stewart rapped out two hits each for the victors. Stewart's triple was the longest hit of the game. It was Texcel's sixth victory against four losses. Score:

Erickson Baffles New York Giants, Chicago Wins 5-4

Cubs' Relief Hurler Holds Ottmen to Single Run in 6 1-3 Innings

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — Relief Pitcher Paul Erickson throttled the New York Giants on four hits and one run over the final six-and-one-third innings today to register his third straight victory as the Chicago Cubs came from behind to defeat the Giants, 5-4.

Erickson rescued starter Johnny Schmitz in the third inning after the southpaw was touched for a three-run homer by Johnny Mize and a single by Walker Cooper. The big righthander then retired the side and didn't allow another hit until the sixth inning. Box:

Shamrocks 4, Maccabees 3
Legion-Keegan's, wet grounds

Gene Scaletta pitched and batted East Side into first place in the City Softball League yesterday when he tossed a four-hitter and produced a two-base wallop in the tenth inning which sent Lacy's Delicatets down to defeat at Taylor field by the score of 3-2.

The East Siders spotted Lacy's three runs in the first two frames and then knotted the count in the third inning when Grimes doubled with the bases full.

Brow's Hit Ties Score

Lacy's moved ahead at 4-3 in the fourth when W. Orndorff scored on Scaletta's wild pitch but in the seventh East Side sent the game into extra innings when Gene Whitman doubled and came home on "Murph" Brown's single.

Seltzer's walk and Scaletta's two-base wallop sewed up the game in the third overtime stanza.

Stottlemeyer and Whitman shared four of the winners' nine hits. Lou Valentine's shoestring catch in right field was the outstanding fielding play.

While East Side moved into first place the first half championship is still undecided due to several postponed games which must be played off before the second half opens next Wednesday.

Shamrocks Cop Another

The Shamrocks scored their fifth straight victory over the Maccabees, 4-3, at Campobello, by rallying for two runs in the final inning but were unable to advance in the standings due to Williams Street's 5 to 3 triumph over the Veterans of Foreign Wars at East Side field. Each team has won ten games and lost eight.

In the latter contest Bill Underdong held the Vets to three hits. Forrest Snider connected for a single and home run with one aboard and Cage obtained the other safety. Eddie Decker had a perfect day for Williams Street by hitting safely four times. Joe Reed got three hits in four trips and Bill Dean hammered a triple with two on the hassocks in the fourth.

The American Legion-Keegan's Jupers game, scheduled for Community Park, was postponed on account of wet grounds. Scores:

Cronin Is Moanin' Arc-Light Blues

Nocturnal Games May Be Answer to Boston's Dismal Showing

CLEVELAND, June 21—(AP)—The league-leading Red Sox, whose once comfortable margin has shrunk from 10 to 6½ games in less than a week, apparently left their batting eyes back in Fenway park.

After watching his charges drop seven of their last eight games (prior to tonight) Joe Cronin is moanin' the arc-light blues.

Back in Boston the bats of the rampaging Yankeymen were on fire. Since taking to the road and night baseball, the Sox lumber has slowed down to a wispy smolder.

The Red Sox play no after-dark games at home, and this may be the answer to their present dismal showing. They scored only one run in their last thirty innings before watching Bobby Feller's fast ball under the lights again tonight.

Look what happened to the pacesetters in St. Louis in three nocturnal engagements: Jack Kramer gave 'em five hits to win 7-1; Muncrief allowed four bingles to shut them out, 1-0, and Zoldak repeated the performance Thursday night in racking up a 2-0 win.

The Sox sorely miss the injured Dom DiMaggio. Not only has the "little professor" been wielding a potent stick but his incomparable fielding always has had a tightening effect on the Sox defense. Dom is working out daily and will be rushed back to his centerfield spot as soon as his injured leg permits.

Meanwhile, Joe Cronin would like his boys to play in daylight.

Coon Dog Trials Set for Tomorrow

Trinity Methodist Wins

Trinity Methodist pounded out seventeen hits to defeat Second Baptist by the score of 15-5 in a South Cumberland Sunday School Softball League game yesterday at Brinker field.

Sulser fanned nine Baptist batsmen. Five of the winners' hits went for extra bases—two doubles and one three-bagger. Score:

"Red" Mauk Asks Prompt Payment Of Expense Money

Stresses Fees Being Paid Out-of-Town Boxers for Matches Here

Presley W. "Red" Mauk, manager of the South End Athletic Club boxing team, last night answered Robert "Sparky" Chisholm's charges of June 19 in the Cumberland Evening Times, by declaring that he accepted an offer of $120 and eight pairs of boxing trunks for American Legion tournament and non-tournament bouts in which his boys participated April 1, 8 and 15 at the state armory and added that the terms of this agreement were not carried out by the promoters.

Mauk charged that Chisholm, in his statement, stretched the definition of an "amateur" and also stressed the fact that there is no objection made on the part of the promoters to pay from $100 to $150 expenses when a team of four out-of-town fighters puts on a one night's performance here.

Answering Chisholm's charges, Mauk, in a prepared statement, said:

"The South Cumberland A. C. boys fought twelve of the sixteen tournament bouts at the state armory April 1, 8 and 15 for which my bill to the Legion boxing committee was $55 for club expenses, plus prizes due the boys.

"After six weeks of waiting I finally arranged with the evasive Chisholm and Fleming a meeting at the Legion home. Then in order to make a quick settlement I accepted their terms. Their offer to me then was $120 and eight pairs of boxing trunks for tournament and non-tournament bouts in which my boys participated. Chisholm requested me to bill the Legion accordingly, with the signatures of the boys waiving their rights to other prizes. The request was promptly complied with.

"I am operating a boxing club as a hobby, not for a profit. I would not be so small as to try to steal a couple of dollars from the boys.

"Mr. Chisholm certainly has stretched the definition of an amateur. May I call his attention to the fact that there was no objection to paying expenses of $100 to $150 for a team of four out-of-town boxers who put on a one-night's performance here.

"Yes, Mr. Chisholm did offer me used boxing gloves. I declined, as my boys are worthy of new ones. I am again asking prompt payment of $120 which was promised me by Chisholm, so that I might purchase for my boys the necessary boxing equipment to further themselves in the sport. Several of the boys who participated in the tournament will be in the army in the very near future."

Johnston Is Medalist In Maryland Tourney

BALTIMORE, June 21. (AP)—Eddie Johnston shot a three under par 67 to win the medal from a record field of 151 players as the annual Maryland amateur championship tournament got underway today on his home course, the Country Club of Maryland.

The first 16 was filled with contestants who posted scores of 77 or under, with a playoff necessary at the top figure.

Harris Tossers Win

FROSTBURG, June 21—Gus Harris hurled his league leading Harris's Restaurant team to an 11-8 victory over the V.F.W. in a Frostburg Softball League game here today. The big blow was Willard LaRue's homer with one aboard in the fifth inning. Goldsworthy, of Harris's and Anderson, of the Vets, had two hits each. Score:

HARRIS	11	14	1
V. F. W.	8	11	4

Hal Newhouser Notches Twelfth Pitching Victory

Detroit Ace Whiffs Ten Yankees in Marking Up 6-2 Triumph

DETROIT, June 21. (AP)—With four New York errors making his task simple, Hal Newhouser achieved his twelfth pitching triumph of the year and the one hundredth of his seven-year big league career today as the Detroit Tigers pasted the Yankees 6 to 2.

Newhouser, who struck out ten men, had a two-hit shutout until the ninth, when Charley Keller doubled and Joe DiMaggio lined his thirteenth homer into the right centerfield seats 400 feet from the plate.

Hal's four-hit pitching looked considerably better than the six-hit job turned in by three Yankee flippers, however, as New York miscues led to four unearned Detroit runs. Box:

Hughson, recently recovered from a hand injury, limited the Tribe to three singles, fanned nine and retired the side in order in seven of the nine innings.

Efforts Being Made To Purchase Pirates

PITTSBURGH, June 21—(AP)—New reports that the Pittsburgh Pirates were on the block—with sales negotiations "hot"—circulated tonight and were denied categorically by Mrs. Barney Dreyfuss, board chairman of the National League Baseball Club.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said efforts to purchase the club "definitely are being made" but that "neither the agent for the would-be purchaser, nor spokesmen for the Pittsburgh Baseball Club would reveal who is making the offer."

Nelson, McSpaden Grab Leadership In Ohio Tourney

Hold 2-Point Advantage over Hogan-Demaret in Best Ball Meet

By HAROLD HARRISON

TOLEDO, O., June 21 (AP)—Shooting consecutive best ball rounds of 64, the team of Byron Nelson of Toledo and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., was out in front by two points today at the end of the third round of the Inverness invitational golf tournament.

Nelson and McSpaden drubbed Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., five up in the morning round and then came back to do the same kind of a job on Herman Keiser of Akron, O., and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., in the afternoon.

Those two triumphs gave the Nelson-McSpaden duo a score of 13 points to 11 for Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., the first day leaders.

Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif. and national open champion Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles whipped Hogan and Demaret in the forenoon, one up, but the Hogan-Demaret pair came back in the afternoon with a blistering best ball score of 63 to lace Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., five up.

It was the second 63 for Hogan and Demaret in three rounds.

In the other afternoon matches Mangrum and Little defeated Bob Hamilton and Dick Metz of Chicago one up, and Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., were two up winners over Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Mich., and E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark.

Nelson-McSpaden	plus 13
Hogan-Demaret	plus 11
Mangrum-Little	plus 3
Keiser-Harper	minus 1
Snead-Ghezzi	minus 4
Penna-Barron	minus 4
Hamilton-Metz	minus 6
Byrd-Harrison	minus 12

The Nelson-McSpaden team took a one-hole lead over Keiser and Harper during the first nine of their afternoon match on the strength of Nelson's birdie four on the ninth hole.

Coming home the boys cut loose with a brilliant 31, five under par and took four of the nine holes. On the 18th, McSpaden, farthest away from the pin, canned a 40-foot putt for the final birdie.

Seattle Ordered To Pay Niemiec

Federal Judge Applies GI Bill of Rights to Baseball Case

SEATTLE, June 21 (AP)—A federal judge applied the GI Bill of Rights to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharged second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly prewar salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, less what he earns in his present job with the Providence (R.I.) Cranston club of the New England League.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."

Tom A. Durham, assistant United States attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torchy Torrance of the Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion — due next Monday — before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.

Trojans, Illini Place Eight Men In Track Finals

By JERRY LISKA

MINNEAPOLIS, June 21 (AP)—The opening session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet today followed script on the ballyhooed scrap between Southern California and Illinois as each qualified eight performers, but the get-away failed to dent the record book.

The Trojans and Illini, along with two brilliant individual stars, Sprinter Lloyd La Beach of Wisconsin and Hurdler Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, dominated the 10-event preliminary skirmishing at the University of Minnesota.

Finals in fourteen events, including the high jump, pole vault, mile and two-mile, for which there was no qualifying competition, will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The Illini, Big Ten and Central Collegiate champions, placed their eight qualifiers in six events, including two each in the 440 and 220-yard runs. Southern California's eight qualifiers were bracketed in seven events, thanks mainly to versatile La Lawrence, who was one of three performers who qualified in three events.

Trailing the co-favorites were Ohio State, New York University and Minnesota with four qualifiers each; Texas, Wisconsin, Baylor, Colorado, Oklahoma A & M, and Missouri with three apiece; and Michigan State, Pittsburgh, Baldwin-Wallace, Rice, Purdue, UCLA, and Kansas, two each. Eighteen schools qualified one each.

The best performances of the day were fashioned by a pair of neighborhood pals from Kingston, Jamaica, in the British West Indies. Quarter-Miler Herb McKenley of Illinois and Lloyd La Beach of Wisconsin.

McKenley who three weeks ago ran a world record shattering 440 in :46.2, galloped easily to a :47.5 trial victory, four-tenths of a second slower than Ben Eastman's American record for a quarter-mile around two turns.

La Beach, who also had the best 220 time of :21.2, breezed the 100-yard route in :09.6, tying the stadium record established in 1940 by Barney Ewell of Penn State.

TEXCEL CLUB KNOCKS WOW FROM RUNNER-UP POSITION IN LEAGUE

The Texcel Club knocked the Woodmen of the World out of second place in the Rocking Chair Softball League by defeating the latter yesterday by the score of 7 to 1 on the Rolling Mill diamond.

The result of yesterday's contest moved the B.P.O. Elks and Cumberland Outdoor Club into the runner-up position, two and one-half games in the rear of the pace-setting Knights of Columbus.

Jimmie Diehl limited the Woodmen to five hits, four of which were shared by Proudfoot and Holshey. Miller, Harvey and Stewart rapped out two hits each for the victors. Stewart's triple was the longest hit of the game. It was Texcel's sixth victory against four losses. Score:

Erickson Baffles New York Giants, Chicago Wins 5-4

Cubs' Relief Hurler Holds Ottmen to Single Run in 6 1-3 Innings

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — Relief Pitcher Paul Erickson throttled the New York Giants on four hits and one run over the final six-and-one-third innings today to register his third straight victory as the Chicago Cubs came from behind to defeat the Giants, 5-4.

Erickson rescued starter Johnny Schmitz in the third inning after the southpaw was touched for a three-run homer by Johnny Mize and a single by Walker Cooper. The big righthander then retired the side and didn't allow another hit until the sixth inning. Box:

Preview to Bikini Atom Bomb Test Is Slated Today

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — Preliminary broadcasts looking forward to the month-end Bikini atom bomb tests are beginning to show up on the networks. Saturday is to bring one to MBS at 5:15 p. m., to rehearsal interviews.

All networks, now race horse conscious, will be doing the same event at 3:15. It is the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct, N. Y. . . . Another sporting event is the National collegiate track meet at Minneapolis, with ABC planning to do a half-hour at 3:30.

The new kid forum, "It's Up to Youth, didn't go on MBS last week despite network announcement it would, so the time at 11 a. m. is to be filled with Mutual Melody until June 29 . . . Right afterward at 11:30 Luncheon with Lopez has taken over the spot previously occupied by the departed Snow Village sketches.

For the Boston Pops concert on ABC at 8:30 p. m. the piano soloist will be Bernhard Weiser. . . Dr. Roy Harris again stands on the podium for the ABC Saturday concert hour at 4.

Col Stoopnagle does not intend to Leave It to the Girls when he did the male guest in the MBS program at 8. . . . Pat O'Brien and Adolphe Menjou, Academy Award guests on CBS at 6, will appear in "Front Page." . . . Grand Ole Opry is to do its NBC broadcast at 8 from an old sidewheeler in the Cumberland river. . . . Opportunity USA, new veteran interview series on MBS, will come this time from Philadelphia. It's at 3:45.

Discussion periods include NBC at 6 Foreign Policy "The Spanish Issue," and CBS 9:45 H. V. Evatt of Australia on "Problems UN Faces."

In Memoriam

STEEN, James—In loving memory of my dear husband, James Steen who departed this life four years ago today, June 22, 1942.

A day I shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.

A voice that I cannot forget.
A smile that will be lost forever,
In memory I see him yet.

Gone from this world of grief and sorrow
To lands of peace and rest,
God has taken you my dear husband,
Where you have found eternal rest.

HIS LOVING WIFE,
6-22-1t-N

In loving memory of Mrs. Susie Robertson, who died two years ago today, June 22, 1944.

You have not left our House; it is as though
You passed from room to room. That where you lay
Was far too small, and as your spirit grew
Just through the door you passed, but not away!
Into a larger, lighter room—forevermore.

HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Card of Thanks

The family of William T. Lewis, Eckhart, Md., wish to express their thanks to the Rev. Sidney Aldrich, Rev. Walter Mehrling and Rev. John Wilson and all their neighbors and friends who were so kind to them in their bereavement.

In Memoriam

STEEN, James—In loving memory of my dear husband, James Steen who departed this life four years ago today, June 22, 1942.
Today is a day of rememberance
And many sad regrets.
A day I shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
A face that is ever before me
A voice that I cannot forget,
A smile that will be lost forever,
In memory I see him yet.
Gone from this world of grief and sorrow
To lands of peace and rest,
God has taken you my dear husband,
Where you have found eternal rest.
HIS LOVING WIFE.
6-22-1t-N

In loving memory of Mrs. Susie Robertson, who died two years ago today, June 22, 1944.
You have not left our House; it is as though
You passed from room to room. That where you lay
Was far too small, and as your spirit grew
Just through the door you passed, but not away!
Into another room . . . that's all . . . just through the door;
Into a larger, lighter room—forevermore.
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.
6-22-1t-NT

Card of Thanks

The family of William T. Lewis, Eckhart, Md., wish to express their thanks to the Rev. Sidney Aldrich, Rev. Walter Mehrling and Rev. John Wilson and all their neighbors and friends who were so kind to them in their bereavement.

Union Reprimands Garment Workers For Stoppage

Cumberland Undergarment Plant Will Resume Work Monday

Miss Helen Phillips, Baltimore, a representative of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, said yesterday she had "reprimanded" the members of Local 634 who staged an unauthorized strike at the Cumberland Undergarment Company plant Thursday and reported the workers will return to work Monday morning.

The union official explained she reminded the 125 workers, at a meeting of the local yesterday afternoon, that the walkout was a violation of the union contract and insisted on a resumption of work.

According to Mrs. Marguerite Chase, local chairwoman, the dispute which resulted in the walkout Thursday at noon resulted from the dissatisfaction of workers on their inability to meet production quotas set up by the company.

Mrs. Chase explained that under the terms of the contract with the union, the company established piece work rates about two weeks ago.

Declare Quotas Too High

Union officials assert that the quotas are too high and pointed out that only one employe, engaged in pressing garments, is able to exceed the quota. Another girl, employed as a machine operator, was able to meet the quota for a day or so, the union declared.

Mrs. Chase pointed out that a girl employed for examining threads and inspection must handle six dozen garments an hour to meet the quota and receives ten and one-half cents bonus each additional dozen.

The company, which began operations here in the former General Textile Mills, Incorporated, plant, has been manufacturing slips since December, 1945, and recently started pantie production.

Mrs. Chase said the starting rate of forty cents per hour is increased monthly to sixty cents up to six months, adding that workers say they were promised an average of seventy-five cents on piece work, when quotas are met.

Explains Quota System

Maurice Milberg, company manager, said last evening that operations at the plant will be resumed as usual Monday morning. He added he was informed the union will check quotas in use at the local plant through its engineering department.

The plant manager said the quotas in force here were established through studies of the production of average operators, and added that most employes here have not yet acquired the experience needed to reach top rates.

Milberg said the prevailing piece rates may be applicable to any employe at any time and added that some individuals have received pay increases within a week's time.

The quotas, he explained, are based to give an average rate of seventy-five cents per hour, but the price per dozen quota is only something to shoot at.

Our records show, Milberg said, that one individual rated a job at ninety cents an hour, which shows that results are possible if the worker wishes to get production.

Beall Supports Flood Control Bill in House

Both the Savage river dam and Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control projects are "necessary and meritorious," Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of the Sixth congressional district, declared in the House of Representatives yesterday when the subject was being discussed.

Rep. Jennings Randolph, of nearby West Virginia, also spoke in favor of the local measure. The overall bill passed the House by a vote of 204 to thirty-eight. The measure, which goes to the Senate, does not appropriate funds but is merely an authorization and is the first step toward obtaining the necessary money.

Rep. Beall, a member of the Flood Control committee, said:

"Mr. Chairman, this bill carries the authorization for $7,420,000 for flood control in and for the City of Cumberland. It also carries the authorization for $1,900,000 to complete the Savage river dam. There is no question in my opinion but that both projects are necessary and meritorious.

Damage Is Great

"The city of Cumberland has periodically been inundated when floods did thousands of dollars worth of damage even to the point of endangering lives. It has been recognized for many years that something should be done to protect property which has been constantly subjected to floods.

"Just recently the United States Engineers completed and set up a model plan for flood prevention in their laboratory at Vicksburg, Miss. This plan shows most comprehensively how floods may be prevented in Cumberland. The army engineers, after an exhaustive study of this entire situation, have recommended the early completion of this project.

"The Savage river dam was originated as a WPA project, and work progressed until 1942, when the war stopped the project after it was sixty-five per cent completed. More than $4,000,000 has already been spent on this project, and if the authorization for $1,900,000 is approved, work can be resumed and the original investment preserved. Unless this additional money is authorized and appropriated, the $4,000,000 already spent will be thrown away.

Hazard Eliminated

"After the project is completed it will control the flow of the Savage river, which in turn empties into the North Branch of the Potomac river. By controlling these waters the flood hazard for the towns of Lake and Westernport, Md., and Piedmont, and Keyser, W. Va., will be practically eliminated. At this

South End Boys' Club Pet Show Attracts Thirty-two Entries

One Animal Appears To Be Combination of Cat and Rabbit

A pet show, held by members of the South End Boys' Club in the gymnasium of the Salvation Army outpost on Virginia avenue last night attracted so many entries and such a large attendance that plans are already underway for a "repeat performance" on an even bigger scale.

"Steals the Show"

This particular animal which appeared to be a cross between a cat and a rabbit "stole the show, because of its unusual and almost freakish appearance. No one seems to know what to call it. The animal is neither cat nor rabbit, but seems to be a combination of both.

J. Millard Hughes, chairman of the committee from the South End Republican Club, which sponsors the boys' club, said last night, the animal has a head, face and ears like a cat, a tail like a cat, but hind quarters, feet and legs like a rabbit. It has no claws such as a cat possesses, and when it sits, it crouches like a rabbit. The animal hops more than it walks.

Bantam Rooster Dressed Up

The funniest exhibit was a Bantam rooster, wearing a miniature straw hat and a big red ribbon. He was a prize winner for William L. Shinholt.

The show's smallest entry was a tropical fish, about a quarter of an inch long, exhibited by Robert Willson.

Plans are underway for an all-day picnic at Constitution park for members of the club next Saturday, Hughes said.

Michael Is Ordered Held without Bond For October Court

Nile J. Michael, 45, Oldtown road, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Irene E. Michael, 34, was ordered held without bond for action of the October term of circuit court when arraigned before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in trial magistrates court yesterday morning.

Mrs. Michael, who died Wednesday morning in Memorial hospital, was buried yesterday afternoon.

Michael, a Celanese worker, who did not testify at the preliminary hearing, was returned to the county jail by county officers.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris presented evidence to show that the woman died from a skull fracture, a contusion of the brain and a slow intra-cranial hemorrhage, allegedly suffered as a result of being kicked in the head by her husband.

Noel Speir Cook and William M. Somerville were attorneys for the accused man at the hearing, which was featured by an autopsy report given by Dr. Benedine Skitarelic, pathologist at Memorial hospital, who described the head wounds suffered by the woman. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buckley, Oldtown road, who told officers they saw Michael kick his wife in the head, also testified.

No witnesses for the defense were presented, since such preliminary hearings are similar to coroner's inquests which formerly were conducted in similar cases, and at which time the accused person appeared.

Funeral services for Mrs. Michael were conducted at 2 p. m. in the Stein funeral home with the Rev. John L. Vermillyea, pastor of Davis Memorial Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Spring Gap cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jacob and Clinton Bishop, Edward Cope, Richard Piper, Allen Crider and Blondell Twigg.

A meeting was held yesterday in New York between the Eastern Regional group of the American Association of Railroads and national officers of the brotherhood in an effort to find a solution to the situation.

Besides making changes in the rules and laws governing working conditions of brotherhood members it was decided to hold next year's convention in Atlantic City. The session opened here Monday and was attended by about thirty top officials of the brotherhood.

Tribute Is Paid To W. L. Geppert By Station WTBO

Editor's Favorite Music and Minute of Silence Mark Program

In an impressive half hour broadcast last night radio station WTBO and its staff paid a tribute to the late William L. Geppert, editor of The Cumberland News, who died in Memorial hospital Thursday.

Arranged by members of the radio station's staff, under the direction of Mrs. Aurelia Becker, manager, Robert Rosamond did the announcing and read the poems. Monroe Benton was in the control room.

Fifteen minutes of transcribed music included some of Mr. Geppert's favorite selections by his favorite composers, Stephen Foster and Johann Strauss. They were "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming;" "My Old Kentucky Home;" "Tales from Vienna Wood;" "Viener Blut;" and "Old Folks at Home."

Reads "Crossing the Bar"

Following this fifteen-minute period of uninterrupted music, Rosamond said, "We at WTBO, know that we have lost a friend . . . and we join the entire community in paying tribute to our deceased friend, William L. Geppert. We agree with Mr. Brust who, in an editorial this morning, stated that William L. Geppert would have no parts of a eulogy about himself. He was that kind of man."

Then to the background of the tender strains of "Come Sweet Death," Rosamond read Alfred Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For though from out our borne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

The selection, "Panis Angelicus," followed. Then the station broadcast Schubert's "Ave Maria," and what is believed to have been Mr. Geppert's top favorite, "Goin' Home," from the New World symphony.

Reads from "Thanatopsis"

During this later part of the program, Rosamond read the following lines from William Cullen Bryant's, "Thanatopsis:"

So live, that when my summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Rosamond then announced, "And now . . . with deep reverence, we dedicate one minute of radio silence to the memory of our friend . . . William L. Geppert."

The strains of "Going Home" faded, and there was nothing. Nothing but sixty seconds of solemn stillness as the hands of time ticked slowly on.

Scout Camporee Will Begin Today Near Rawlings

Potomac Council Executive Expects 400 Boys To Attend Event

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold its first council camporee today and tomorrow at Smith's farm near Rawlings, Kenneth E. Jackson, scout executive, said yesterday.

Camping will begin at 3 p. m. and will continue until 3 p. m. tomorrow, with leaders arriving earlier to begin preparations. Jackson said he is preparing for 400 boys, but the number participating will probably depend upon weather and other factors.

Camping will be on a patrol basis and a number of contests and various competitions have been arranged. Jackson said as many as fifty patrols may participate.

Have Several Projects

Under the leadership of patrol leaders, scouts will carry out the following projects, Compass and Pacing; Firecraft; Trail Signs and Symbols; Pioneering and Ropecraft; Campcraft with knife and axe; Oath and Law.

Every scout who attends the camporee will receive an official camporee emblem, to be worn on the uniform over the right shirt pocket.

Campers will be judged and scored with emphasis placed on such things as care and use of tools, use and care of water, care and disposal of garbage; promptness, improvising equipment; organization, conduct, leadership ability, use of campsite equipment and food and general inspection.

A possible score of 1,000 may be attained by each patrol; however, awards will be made to patrols obtaining 800 or more. A red ribbon award will be presented for 800 to 899 points; a white ribbon award for 700 to 799 points and a blue ribbon award for 900 or more points.

Biggs Heads Judges

Commissioner Harry J. Biggs, Westernport, will head the judges and Floyd Davis of Luke is chairman of camping activities for the council.

VFW DRUM CORPS PARADES TOMORROW AT HAGERSTOWN

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars drum and bugle corps will go to Hagerstown tomorrow, to participate in the afternoon parade of the Border States convention, Loyal Order of Moose.

The drum corps was awarded a check for $100 last week at Altoona, Pa., when judges selected them as second prize winners in a Flag day parade held there under the sponsorship of the Altoona American Legion.

Since then, a letter has been received from the Altoona Legion Post, asking that the check be returned, as an error had been made by the judges.

Adjutant T. K. Whalley of the VFW post, said the check has already been deposited in the drum corps account, but that a check will be drawn and mailed to the Altoona Legion. Whalley said, "usually the decision of the judges is considered final, and if an error occurred here, we would issue duplicate prizes. But evidently they don't do things that way in Altoona. We will know better next time."

Meeting Is Planned On Brewery Strike

Ruehl said a conference yesterday between the company and the union left the situation "about the same," but added that negotiations are still continuing.

Master Bakers Make Union New Counter Offer

Difference in Wage Dispute Is Narrowed to Five Cents an Hour

Members of Local 246, Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, and Master Bakers appeared a little closer to a new wage agreement following a meeting of representatives of labor and management at Central YMCA last night.

Harold M. Dixon, secretary of the local said the union is now asking a blanket hourly wage increase for all employes of fifteen cents an hour, and a minimum wage of sixty-five cents an hour. Wage scales at bakeries figuring in the negotiations vary from fifty cents to $1.21 per hour, depending upon the skill and work done, Dixon explained.

The Master Bakers did not agree to the fifteen cents hourly increase, Dixon declared, but made a counter proposal of ten cents an hour or fifteen per cent increase.

Union To Meet

Dixon said this offer will be taken before the local at a general membership meeting at the Trades Council building, Frederick street, this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The membership will either accept the Master Bakers' proposal or reject it, or will instruct the negotiation committee as to further bargaining.

Following this session, Dixon said, the union committee will meet again with the Master Bakers at 3 p. m. today at the YMCA.

Dixon said if an agreement is not reached before June 29, there will be a work stoppage at all interested bakeries.

The union has cut its original demands in half, Dixon said, and has made an effort to consider the problems of management and curtailed production due to the shortage of wheat.

Boost Not Enough

Last week, OPA announced an increase in ceiling price of one cent a loaf to bakeries, and management claims this increase will not cover a large wage increase at this time.

The local which comprises seventy-five workers in three Cumberland and one Westernport bakeries was represented last night by Charles Robinette, president; E. Yalder, Eva Browning, Egbert Stallings, Georgette Scarlett, Mrs. Mamie Walsh, Edward Kroll, Harold M. Dixon, secretary and Wesley Reedy, of Philadelphia, international representative.

Master Bakers, as management is known in the industry, were represented by Milton McIntyre, Westernport; Frank Smith, John Ort and Harold A. MacMannis, this city.

Labor Groups Are Backing Lane, Miller States

All labor groups in the state are supporting William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, R. T. Miller, Hagerstown, chairman of the legislative Maryland board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told members of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference Thursday night at Trades Council hall.

Miller told of the various labor political activities in Maryland and said there is more interest and work on the part of union members than at any other time.

Letter Is Cited

The chairman along with G. Edwin Parker, city, vice chairman, called attention to a letter to all trainmen in the state. It declares that after the records of all candidates for governor were considered the board decided that Lane "is the outstanding candidate and will, we believe, be most likely to give favorable consideration and support to social and labor legislation beneficial to the great mass of working people in the State of Maryland.

"Mr. Lane is primarily a liberal," the letter continues, "having given complete and whole-hearted support in the election of President Roosevelt in the 1944 campaign, and we believe he will continue the policy followed in this campaign if elected as governor of the state."

Parker Elected

Paul L. Burley, conference secretary, stated the group also elected Parker treasurer to succeed J. H. Humbertson, Machinists, who resigned.

Support for federal housing was voted and members and their families were urged not to cross the picket line at Peskin's shoe store.

Other candidates receiving conference support follow: Dawson J. Horine, Democrat, seeking the congressional nomination, and Stephen L. Cesnick, Democrat, for the House of Delegates; and the following Republicans: Theodore R. McKeldin, governor; George Henderson, judge; William H. Lemmert and C. N. Wilkinson, county commissioners; Irvin A. Alexander, George Carter, Lester B. Reed, and Charles M. See, House of Delegates.

County Offices Will Remain Open Monday

The court house will remain open Monday, primary election day, it was announced yesterday by the county commissioners. Chief Judge William A. Huster advised the board that all offices remain open on primary day, but will close on election day in November.

The board was notified that the 155 mm. howitzer, which will be placed on the court house lawn as a memorial of World War II veterans, was shipped June 20 from the Army Ordnance Depot, Anniston, Ala.

James Burkhart requested repairs to Woodland street in LaVale and County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate.

Union Reprimands Garment Workers For Stoppage

Cumberland Undergarment Plant Will Resume Work Monday

Miss Helen Phillips, Baltimore, a representative of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, said yesterday she had "reprimanded" the members of Local 634 who staged an unauthorized strike at the Cumberland Undergarment Company plant Thursday and reported the workers will return to work Monday morning.

The union official explained she reminded the 125 workers, at a meeting of the local yesterday afternoon, that the walkout was a violation of the union contract and insisted on a resumption of work.

According to Mrs. Marguerite Chase, local chairwoman, the dispute which resulted in the walkout Thursday at noon resulted from the dissatisfaction of workers on their inability to meet production quotas set up by the company.

Mrs. Chase explained that under the terms of the contract with the union, the company established piece work rates about two weeks ago.

Declare Quotas Too High

Union officials assert that the quotas are too high and pointed out that only one employe, engaged in pressing garments, is able to exceed the quota. Another girl, employed as a machine operator, was able to meet the quota for a day or so, the union declared.

Mrs. Chase pointed out that a girl employed for examining threads and inspection must handle six dozen garments an hour to meet the quota and receives ten and one-half cents bonus each additional dozen.

The company, which began operations here in the former General Textile Mills, Incorporated, plant, has been manufacturing slips since December, 1945, and recently started pantie production.

Mrs. Chase said the starting rate of forty cents per hour is increased monthly to sixty cents up to six months, adding that workers say they were promised an average of seventy-five cents on piece work when quotas are met.

Explains Quota System

Maurice Milberg, company manager, said last evening that operations at the plant will be resumed as usual Monday morning. He added he was informed the union will check quotas in use at the local plant through its engineering department.

The plant manager said the quotas in force here were established through studies of the production of average operators, and added that most employes here have not yet acquired the experience needed to reach top rates.

Milberg said the prevailing piece rates may be applicable to any employe at any time and added that some individuals have received pay increases within a week's time.

The quotas, he explained, are based to give an average rate of seventy-five cents per hour, but the price per dozen quota is only something to shoot at.

Our records show, Milberg said, that one individual rated a job at ninety cents an hour, which shows that results are possible if the worker wishes to get production.

Beall Supports Flood Control Bill in House

Both the Savage river dam and Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control projects are "necessary and meritorious," Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of the Sixth congressional district, declared in the House of Representatives yesterday when the subject was being discussed.

Rep. Jennings Randolph, of nearby West Virginia, also spoke in favor of the local measure. The overall bill passed the House by a vote of 204 to thirty-eight. The measure, which goes to the Senate, does not appropriate funds but is merely an authorization and is the first step toward obtaining the necessary money.

Rep. Beall, a member of the Flood Control committee, said:

"Mr. Chairman, this bill carries the authorization for $7,420,000 for flood control in and for the City of Cumberland. It also carries the authorization for $1,900,000 to complete the Savage river dam. There is no question in my opinion but that both projects are necessary and meritorious.

Damage Is Great

"The city of Cumberland has periodically been inundated when floods did thousands of dollars worth of damage even to the point of endangering lives. It has been recognized for many years that something should be done to protect property which has been constantly subjected to floods.

"Just recently the United States Engineers completed and set up a model plan for flood prevention in their laboratory at Vicksburg, Miss. This plan shows most comprehensively how floods may be prevented in Cumberland. The army engineers, after an exhaustive study of this entire situation, have recommended the early completion of this project.

"The Savage river dam was originated as a WPA project, and work progressed until 1942, when the war stopped the project after it was sixty-five per cent completed. More than $4,000,000 has already been spent on this project, and if the authorization for $1,900,000 is approved, work can be resumed and the original investment preserved. Unless this additional money is authorized and appropriated, the $4,000,000 already spent will be thrown away.

Hazard Eliminated

"After the project is completed it will control the flow of the Savage river, which in turn empties into the North Branch of the Potomac river. By controlling these waters the flood hazard for the towns of Lake and Westernport, Md., and Piedmont, and Keyser, W. Va., will be practically eliminated. At this

Chief Judge William A. Huster ordered Myers to pay his wife $25 weekly alimony, pending a decision in the case.

One Animal Appears To Be Combination of Cat and Rabbit

A pet show, held by members of the South End Boys' Club in the gymnasium of the Salvation Army outpost on Virginia avenue last night attracted so many entries and such a large attendance that plans are already underway for a "repeat performance" on an even bigger scale.

Thirty-two pets ranging from fish to fowl were shown and a total of $12 was paid in cash prizes.

"Steals the Show"

This particular animal which appeared to be a cross between a cat and a rabbit "stole the show, because of its unusual and almost freakish appearance. No one seems to know what to call it. The animal is neither cat nor rabbit, but seems to be a combination of both.

J. Millard Hughes, chairman of the committee from the South End Republican Club, which sponsors the boys' club, said last night, the animal has a head, face and ears like a cat, a tail like a cat, but hind quarters, feet and legs like a rabbit. It has no claws such as a cat possesses, and when it sits, it crouches like a rabbit. The animal hops more than it walks.

The animal attracted much attention and had the judges puzzled, as well as everyone else.

Bantam Rooster Dressed Up

The funniest exhibit was a Bantam rooster, wearing a miniature straw hat and a big red ribbon. He was a prize winner for William L. Shinholt.

The show's smallest entry was a tropical fish, about a quarter of an inch long, exhibited by Robert Willison.

Plans are underway for an all-day picnic at Constitution park for members of the club next Saturday, Hughes said.

Michael Is Ordered Held without Bond For October Court

Nile J. Michael, 45, Oldtown road, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Irene E. Michael, 34, was ordered held without bond for action of the October term of circuit court when arraigned before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in trial magistrates court yesterday morning.

Mrs. Michael, who died Wednesday morning in Memorial hospital, was buried yesterday afternoon.

Michael, a Celanese worker, who did not testify at the preliminary hearing, was returned to the county jail by county officers.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris presented evidence to show that the woman died from a skull fracture, a contusion of the brain and a slow intra-cranial hemorrhage, allegedly suffered as a result of being kicked in the head by her husband.

Noel Speir Cook and William M. Somerville were attorneys for the accused man at the hearing, which was featured by an autopsy report given by Dr. Benedine Skitarelic, pathologist at Memorial hospital, who described the head wounds suffered by the woman. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buckley, Oldtown road, who told officers they saw Michael kick his wife in the head, also testified.

No witnesses for the defense were presented, since such preliminary hearings are similar to coroner's inquests which formerly were conducted in similar cases, and at which time the accused person appeared.

Funeral services for Mrs. Michael were conducted at 2 p. m. in the Stein funeral home with the Rev. John L. Vermillyea, pastor of Davis Memorial Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Spring Gap cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jacob and Clinton Bishop, Edward Cope, Richard Piper, Allen Crider and Blondell Twigg.

A meeting was held yesterday in New York between the Eastern Regional group of the American Association of Railroads and national officers of the brotherhood in an effort to find a solution to the situation.

Besides making changes in the rules and laws governing working conditions of brotherhood members it was decided to hold next year's convention in Atlantic City. The session opened here Monday and was attended by about thirty top officials of the brotherhood.

Tribute Is Paid To W. L. Geppert By Station WTBO

Editor's Favorite Music and Minute of Silence Mark Program

In an impressive half hour broadcast last night radio station WTBO and its staff paid a tribute to the late William L. Geppert, editor of The Cumberland News, who died in Memorial hospital Thursday.

Arranged by members of the radio station's staff, under the direction of Mrs. Aurelia Becker, manager, Robert Rosamond did the announcing and read the poems. Monroe Benton was in the control room.

Fifteen minutes of transcribed music included some of Mr. Geppert's favorite selections by his favorite composers, Stephen Foster and Johann Strauss. They were "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming;" "My Old Kentucky Home;" "Tales from Vienna Wood;" "Viener Blut;" and "Old Folks at Home."

Reads "Crossing the Bar"

Following this fifteen-minute period of uninterrupted music, Rosamond said, "We at WTBO, know that we have lost a friend . . . and we join the entire community in paying tribute to our deceased friend, William L. Geppert. We agree with Mr. Brust who, in an editorial this morning, stated that William L. Geppert would have no parts of a eulogy about himself. He was that kind of man."

Then to the background of the tender strains of "Come Sweet Death," Rosamond read Alfred Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam.
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For though from out our borne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

The selection, "Panis Angelicus," followed. Then the station broadcast Schubert's "Ave Maria," and what is believed to have been Mr. Geppert's top favorite, "Goin' Home," from the New World symphony.

Reads from "Thanatopsis"

During this later part of the program, Rosamond read the following lines from William Cullen Bryant's, "Thanatopsis:"

So live, that when my summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Rosamond then announced, "And now . . . with deep reverence, we dedicate one minute of radio silence to the memory of our friend . . . William L. Geppert."

The strains of "Going Home" faded, and there was nothing. Nothing but sixty seconds of solemn stillness as the hands of time ticked slowly on.

WTBO had paid a beautiful tribute to their friend and ours.

Every scout who attends the camporee will receive an official camporee emblem, to be worn on the uniform over the right shirt pocket.

Campers will be judged and scored with emphasis placed on such things as care and use of tools, use and care of water, care and disposal of garbage; promptness, improvising equipment; organization, conduct, leadership ability, use of campsite equipment and food and general inspection.

A possible score of 1,000 may be attained by each patrol; however, awards will be made to patrols obtaining 800 or more. A red ribbon award will be presented for 800 to 899 points; a white ribbon award for 700 to 799 points and a blue ribbon award for 900 or more points.

Biggs Heads Judges

Commissioner Harry J. Biggs, Westernport, will head the judges and Floyd Davis of Luke is chairman of camping activities for the council.

VFW DRUM CORPS PARADES TOMORROW AT HAGERSTOWN

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars drum and bugle corps will go to Hagerstown tomorrow, to participate in the afternoon parade of the Border States convention, Loyal Order of Moose.

The drum corps was awarded a check for $100 last week at Altoona, Pa., when judges selected them as second prize winners in a Flag day parade held there under the sponsorship of the Altoona American Legion.

Since then, a letter has been received from the Altoona Legion Post, asking that the check be returned, as an error had been made by the judges.

Adjutant T. K. Whalley of the VFW post, said the check has already been deposited in the drum corps account, but that a check will be drawn and mailed to the Altoona Legion. Whalley said, "usually the decision of the judges is considered final, and if an error occurred here, we would issue duplicate prizes. But evidently they don't do things that way in Altoona. We will know better next time."

Meeting Is Planned On Brewery Strike

Officials of Local 265, United Brewery Workers of America, will meet with the management of the Cumberland and Queen City Brewing companies this morning in an effort to settle the strike which halted production of beer here June 11.

O. H. Ruehl, union secretary, said Commissioner James A. Holden will sit in on the meeting to be held at 10 a. m. at the Queen City Brewing Company offices.

Ruehl said a conference yesterday between the company and the union left the situation "about the same," but added that negotiations are still continuing.

Master Bakers Make Union New Counter Offer

Difference in Wage Dispute Is Narrowed to Five Cents an Hour

Members of Local 246, Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, and Master Bakers appeared a little closer to a new wage agreement following a meeting of representatives of labor and management at Central YMCA last night.

Harold M. Dixon, secretary of the local said the union is now asking a blanket hourly wage increase for all employes of fifteen cents an hour, and a minimum wage of sixty-five cents an hour. Wage scales at bakeries figuring in the negotiations vary from fifty cents to $1.21 per hour, depending upon the skill and work done, Dixon explained.

The Master Bakers did not agree to the fifteen cents hourly increase, Dixon declared, but made a counter proposal of ten cents an hour or fifteen per cent increase.

Union To Meet

Dixon said this offer will be taken before the local at a general membership meeting at the Trades Council building, Frederick street, this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The membership will either accept the Master Bakers' proposal or reject it, or will instruct the negotiation committee as to further bargaining.

Following this session, Dixon said, the union committee will meet again with the Master Bakers at 3 p. m. today at the YMCA.

Dixon said if an agreement is not reached before June 29, there will be a work stoppage at all interested bakeries.

The union has cut its original demands in half, Dixon said, and has made an effort to consider the problems of management and curtailed production due to the shortage of wheat.

Boost Not Enough

Last week, OPA announced an increase in ceiling price of one cent a loaf to bakeries, and management claims this increase will not cover a large wage increase at this time.

The local which comprises seventy-five workers in three Cumberland and one Westernport bakeries was represented last night by Charles Robinette, president; E. Yalder, Eva Browning, Egbert Stallings, Georgette Scarlett, Mrs. Mamie Walsh, Edward Kroll, Harold M. Dixon, secretary and Wesley Reedy, of Philadelphia, international representative.

Master Bakers, as management is known in the industry, were represented by Milton McIntyre, Westernport; Frank Smith, John Ort and Harold A. MacMannis, this city.

Labor Groups Are Backing Lane, Miller States

All labor groups in the state are supporting William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, R. T. Miller, Hagerstown, chairman of the legislative Maryland board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told members of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference Thursday night at Trades Council hall.

Miller told of the various labor political activities in Maryland and said there is more interest and work on the part of union members than at any other time.

Letter Is Cited

The chairman along with G. Edwin Parker, city, vice chairman, called attention to a letter to all trainmen in the state. It declares that after the records of all candidates for governor were considered the board decided that Lane "is the outstanding candidate and will, we believe, be most likely to give favorable consideration and support to social and labor legislation beneficial to the great mass of working people in the State of Maryland.

"Mr. Lane is primarily a liberal," the letter continues, "having given complete and whole-hearted support in the election of President Roosevelt in the 1944 campaign, and we believe he will continue the policy followed in this campaign if elected as governor of the state."

Parker Elected

Paul L. Burley, conference secretary, stated the group also elected Parker treasurer to succeed J. H. Humbertson, Machinists, who resigned.

Support for federal housing was voted and members and their families were urged not to cross the picket line at Peskin's shoe store.

County Offices Will Remain Open Monday

The court house will remain open Monday, primary election day, it was announced yesterday by the county commissioners. Chief Judge William A. Huster advised the board that all offices remain open on primary day, but will close on election day in November.

The board was notified that the 155 mm. howitzer, which will be placed on the court house lawn as a memorial of World War II veterans, was shipped June 20 from the Army Ordnance Depot, Anniston, Ala.

James Burkhart requested repairs to Woodland street in LaVale and County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate.
